

ULTIMATUM TO BRITAIN?

ROME, July 15 (AP)—Authoritative Fascist Editor Virginio Gayda indicated today that Germany and Italy would serve an ultimatum on Great Britain within a few days, offering her a choice between surrender or destruction.

Gayda's editorials in the newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia frequently reflect official opinion.

"Preparations will be completed in a very few days," Gayda wrote. "Britain will have to settle her last account. She will have to choose between submission to the renovating, restorative forces of Europe or extremely grim, violent war in which inexorable destruction, a fateful precipitous step toward final overthrow, will be measured not by years or weeks, of which Churchill spoke, but by days or hours."

Fires Of Ruin Burn In France

As France mourned her fate on Bastille Day, from Berlin came this picture ... typical of the destruction wrought in the villages of France. Nazi storm troopers, on horseback and bicycle, pass the still burning ruins of a building in a French village. The name of the village wasn't given in the German-censored caption, but it does say that a fierce battle took place there.

British Order 8500 Children Sent From War Peril Zone

LONDON, July 15 (AP)—Britain, ready for a long war and waiting for the day when she can seize the offensive, today ordered removal of 8500 more children from southeastern coastal areas in anticipation of the German invasion which Prime Minister Churchill told the nation to expect any time.

Even as plans were rushed to get the children to inland havens, German bombers continued their feeling-out process.

Fatal bombs rained on a south coast town. A brief communique said the raiders destroyed some houses and caused a small number of casualties, "some of which were fatal."

A German attacker dropped four bombs over Wales three of the missiles falling in the water and the fourth on open ground without damage.

NAZIS IN NEW RAID

A ministry of health announcement said the new exodus of children from the southeast coast towns of Eastbourne, Hastings, Bexhill, Rye, Newhaven and Seaford will begin next Sunday.

It also will be moving day again for 3000 London children who were sent to Worthing, on the southeast coast last September, and now are to be shifted to safer places inland.

In a daylight raid today by a single German plane one person was reported killed and several injured in a southeast English town.

In the war at sea, the admiralty reported the 670-ton submarine Shark was "overdue and must be presumed lost." She was the 10th British submarine lost in the war.

The admiralty yesterday announced loss of the 1350-ton destroyer Escort.

CHURCHILL WAR TALK

Great Britain, "a great nation with a will power" the equal of Germany's, is ready for a long war and waiting for the day, even if it should not come until 1942, when she can take the offensive herself, Churchill informed the world last night in a "fight talk."

He pictured Britain as armed more powerfully on land, at sea and in the air than at any time in her history.

Churchill spoke of the strength of the British army, "a million and a half men under arms"; of the home guard, "more than a million volunteers ready to destroy 'parachutists, airborne invaders and any traitors that may be found in our midst'; of the Royal Air Force and fighter command, which have "shot down more than five to one" of German planes attacking convoys and Britain herself, and finally of the Royal Navy, ready

Canada Freed French Cruiser

OTTAWA, July 15 (AP)—Navy Minister Angus L. McDonald said today the French cruiser Emile Berlin sailed June 21 from Halifax as "a ship of an ally sailing from a friendly port to a friendly port."

His statement came in comment on a Berlin radio broadcast, intercepted in New York by NBC, that the cruiser had "eluded" a British naval guard at Halifax and reached Martinique.

MacDonald said that when the warship sailed "France had not capitulated to German terms and in fact at that time French forces were still engaging the Germans."

In two audacious forays climaxing more than a week of holdups, car thefts, running gun fights and hair-breadth escapes in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, a bandit gang bristling with stolen weapons staged bold robberies today at West Springfield and Magnolia.

ITALIANS CLAIM 2 SUBS SUNK

ROME, July 15 (AP)—Destruction of two British submarines and a destroyer in week-end naval operations in the Mediterranean was claimed by Italy today.

An Italian submarine, the high command said, sank a British submarine and a destroyer in the western Mediterranean. It had reported yesterday that an Italian destroyer also sank a British submarine. The Italians admitted loss of a submarine.

Loss of a destroyer and one submarine is acknowledged by the British. The admiralty disclosed yesterday the sinking of the 1350-ton destroyer Escort, torpedoed in the western Mediterranean, pictured by Italy as struggling home to Alexandria under aerial pounding after a hapless foray into the open sea. Battleships and cruisers were reported struck "repeatedly" with heavy bombs.

A total of 10 British planes destroyed was counted for the week-end, both over the Mediterranean and in Africa, where, the communiqué today said, Italian scout planes also machine-gunned British troops near Buna, East Africa.

Reports from Spain said that the British battle cruiser Hood, largest naval vessel in the world, which the Italians assert their planes have hit repeatedly with bombs, was lying in the harbor at Gibraltar with her gun turrets so badly damaged they could not be repaired with facilities there.

British Holding Out In Italians' Siege

NAIROBI, British Kenya, Africa, July 15 (AP)—The British garrison at Moyale, Kenya, under siege by Italian troops since last Wednesday, still is holding out. British army headquarters announced today.

"Yesterday was a quiet day," said the headquarters communique.

"Our aircraft bombed Italian Moyale with success, setting fire to buildings around the village and making the enemy run from the ridge west of British Moyale."

"All our machines returned safely."

U. S. Envoy to Eire Injured In Plunge

DUBLIN, July 15 (AP)—United States Minister David Gray fell 40 feet down an entryway of an air-raid shelter at the legation in Phoenix Park yesterday, but escaped with severe ankle sprains.

Leaders of the gang, according to police, are two youthful desperadoes, one from Springfield and one from New York.

They are sought for a series of reckless crimes on both sides of the New Hampshire-Massachusetts border and are blamed for the death of a Laconia, N. H., girl who was killed when a stolen car, pursued by police, hit a tree at Windham, N. H.

Most dramatic of today's robberies was a holdup accomplished with wild West and movie scenario flourishes at the Magnolia Casino, swanky North Shore society dine and dance resort.

VICTIMS AROUSED

Masked with handkerchiefs and each brandishing two guns, four bandits smashed their way into the Casino, roused 11 employees, including a youthful and attractive cigarette girl, herded them half-clad into a second floor room and forced them to hand over all their money and valuables.

Threatened with being taken for a "ride," Frank Fishbourne, manager of the Casino, was compelled to surrender Saturday night receipts totalling more than $1800.

The gunmen took $59 and a gold watch from Fishbourne's clothing. The cigarette girl, pretty Miss Theima Kalloch, 24, was first marched at gun point into a bathroom, where one of the masked bandits stood guard over her.

As the girl cowered in her scanty attire, her captor boasted of his "iron nerve" and twirled his two guns in Deadwood Dick style by the trigger guards, she told police afterward.

WARNED, BUT UNHARMED

She was not harmed or molested, she said, but was later placed in the room with the other holdup victims and warned to "sit tight for 15 minutes or take the consequences."

Fishbourne, the manager, said he tried to stall the bandits off without surrendering the Casino receipts, but they jammed two guns in his ribs, menaced him with the butt of another and told him: "Get that dough and get it quick or we'll slug you and take you for a ride you won't come back from."

Fishbourne collected the money from several hiding places, he said. Other employees dragged from

Bay Staters Urge Farley To Quit Race

CHICAGO, July 15 (INS)—Leaders in the New York and Massachusetts delegations to the Democratic national convention, from which Postmaster-General James A. Farley expects to receive the bulk of his support, today urged Farley, in the interests of party harmony, to withdraw as a candidate for the presidential nomination.

These leaders, some of whom have been associated with Farley politically for many years, fear that the Postmaster-General's candidacy offers the chief rallying point for anti-Roosevelt sentiment.

The Massachusetts group, nominally pledged to Farley, arranged a conference at which leaders were prepared to warn the national chairman that from 24 to 30 of the state's 31 votes might go to President Roosevelt on the first ballot, Farley has counted on 32½ of the Massachusetts votes for himself.

AGAINST ROOSEVELT
The situation in the New York state delegation is different. There Farley is gaining rather than losing ground, mostly among upstate delegates. Former Lieut.-Gov. M. William Bray, who lost the state chairmanship to Farley in 1936, at the behest of President Roosevelt, who then was Governor of New York, served notice he would be against the renomination of Roosevelt. Bray would not indicate, however, which candidate he would support.

"I'm going to vote to the last against the renomination of Mr. Roosevelt," he said. "I have the pledges of some other upstate delegates to stand by me in this fight and I hope to increase our ranks before the balloting starts." The delegates, their pockets crammed with third-term pledges, gathered today convinced President Roosevelt would accept nomination. This viewpoint persisted among the crowds jamming daily decorated hotel lobbies, even though friends of the chief executive quoted him as saying he was "not a candidate."

The strategy for delivering up a "draft" nomination to the President, however, had not been fixed up to the time Farley opened the first convention session. The chosen spokesmen of the Democratic party were ready to nominate Roosevelt but were slightly bewildered and a little peeved by his continued silence on the third term issue.

BY ACCLAMATION
An "inner circle" of New Dealers, backed by more than 700 pledged delegates, will probably give Mr. Roosevelt renomination by acclamation after a single ballot. Publicly, these leaders—led by Secretary of

14 INJURED IN EL CAR CRASH

Three firemen were injured and 11 passengers were shaken up today when a Boston Elevated car rammed a fire engine on Dudley st. near Dennis st., Roxbury.

Force of the impact hurled Edward F. Macomber, 40, of N. st., South Boston, from the truck. He was treated at City Hospital for cuts above the right eye, bruises and abrasions.

Also thrown from the truck and shaken up were John H. Galvin, 37, of Champlain st., South Boston, and John F. MacNamara, 46, of Nelson st., Dorchester.

Passengers were thrown to the floor and showered with fragments of glass. Police said Engine 12 was returning from a small fire on Dennis st.

Elliott Silent But Sees Victory

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—One Roosevelt already is at the Democratic national convention in an official capacity. He is Elliott Roosevelt of Fort Worth, second son of the President.

Elliott is a Texas delegate, but he expressed no opinion as to whether his father would be renominated. The state's delegation is instructed to vote as a unit for Vice-President Garner for the presidential nomination.

"I haven't got a thing to say," Elliott told reporters, "except that the man who is nominated here will win the election."

F. D. AIDES DEFIED BY FARLEY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 15—James A. Farley held the spotlight in Chicago today as the curtain rose on the 1940 Democratic national convention with President Roosevelt still maintaining silence on the third term.

Farley's definite announcement that he is in the race for the presidential nomination in the face of the movement to "draft" Roosevelt served to complicate a situation that has all the delegates guessing.

"My name is going before the convention and it won't be withdrawn until the balloting is finished," Farley declared.

Mr. Roosevelt's liaison officers on the scene, headed by Sec. of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, made no comment on this definite, unqualified statement by the man who successfully conducted Roosevelt's two campaigns for the presidency.

Hopkins and Farley are the only two men who share the President's secret regarding the third term.

ANSWER ON SATURDAY

Convention headquarters buzzed with speculation on what Farley would do in the event the convention renominates Roosevelt. Will he agree again to run Mr. Roosevelt's campaign or will he retire and take an executive position with the New York Yankees, as rumored? Farley indicated he would give the answer to those questions on Saturday.

Many delegates privately declare that the Democratic party will be in for a beating this fall if Farley does not run this campaign. He is recognized as the ablest Democratic national chairman in the party's history. He did a great organizing job in putting Roosevelt over in 1932 and again in 1936. Roosevelt would need Farley badly for 1940, with such a formidable candidate as Wendell L. Willkie in the arena.

But those who are close to Farley say he is "fed up" with the job of national chairman. His intimate friends feel that Farley's loyalty to Roosevelt has not been properly appreciated by the President.

CONVENTION'S BIG MAN

Less politically-experienced men such as Hopkins and Tommy Corcoran have been closer to Mr. Roosevelt in the last year or two than Farley.

Farley's friends are inclined to think "Genial Jim" may have decided he has "taken it on the chin" long enough.

Farley looms as the dominant

President Running Things by Silence

By AUSTEN LAKE

CHICAGO, July 15—Here's a situation to warm the dramatic cockles of Franklin D. Roosevelt's heart. For, as the 29th quadrennial convention of the Democratic party begins today in the big Soup Tureen known as the Chicago Stadium, Roosevelt's silence and absence controls the majority of the 1094 delegates as completely as though they are political pinocchio and he is their offstage puppeteer.

Roosevelt hasn't said "Yes" and he hasn't said "No," but every Man-Jack and Lady-Jill who has a vote in this convulsive senses his unspoken wish to be nominated next Thursday by popular frenzy. The only doubt in their minds is whether, in some swift whimsy, he might not suggest the heir to his mantle at one of the meetings before the delegations are polled. And undoubtedly even then—even if he sent some message it would not change their intention to stamp, holler and yell him into the top spot.

Because such is the temper of the convention now that the delegates would regard any attempt of F. D. R.'s to withdraw as a tactful pretension to modesty.

ONLY ONE TOPIC

There is only one topic of conversation in the downtown Loop hotels where the delegates and their camp followers gather—"Will he accept?"

There is no question, "Will he be nominated?" All and sundry, even the small anti-element against the New Deal, know that he will—in one ear-splitting uproar.

The result of this air of mystery is curious in its effect on the other candidates. For contrasting with the fanfare, drum rattles and carnival excitement of Philadelphia last

Kennedy Seen Successor if Farley Quits

CHICAGO, July 15—Should Postmaster-General James A. Farley resign as chairman of the Democratic national committee, New Dealers talked today of drafting Joseph P. Kennedy, U. S. ambassador to England.

Like Farley, he is a business man, a Roman Catholic, with attractive financial connections necessary to step up funds for the campaign.

Kennedy, a Boston man, now maintains a New York residence. Kennedy's successor in Britain would be, according to New Dealers, Joseph B. Davies, withdrawn ambassador to Belgium.

President Back At White House

WASHINGTON, July 15 (INS)—President Roosevelt was back at his desk today outwardly oblivious of the fact that before the week is out he will have to make the most important announcement of his career.

He returned Sunday afternoon from a week-end cruise on the Potomac and presumably received a telephonic report from Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins on latest developments in Chicago.

There's a search for beauty along a rainbow trail—and at the end of the rainbow is a pot of gold for the winner.

"Miss Massachusetts" ENTRY BLANK

I hereby apply for entry as a contestant for the title "Miss Massachusetts," the winner of which contest will participate in the American Beauty Event Contest to select the Most Beautiful and Talented Girl, sponsored by the Showmen's Variety Jubilee, to be held the week commencing Sept. 2, at Atlantic City, N. J., for the title of "Miss America 1940."

Name _____
Street _____
City or Town _____
Age _____

MAIL TO MISS MASSACHUSETTS EDITOR,
BOX 228, BOSTON, MASS.

This is the announcement that the annual contest to select "Miss Massachusetts 1940" is now on, and that for the lucky girl chosen as state title holder there is a wealth of opportunity beyond her wildest dreams.

For to this state winner will come the chance to be selected "Miss America 1940" at the nation-wide beauty pageant in Atlantic City beginning the week of Sept. 2, and the loveliest girl in this state may become the loveliest girl in the nation.

The contest for "Miss Massachusetts 1940" is sponsored by the Boston Evening American, Boston Daily Record and Boston Sunday Advertiser. To the winner, the newspapers will furnish free transportation to Atlantic City and a complete wardrobe for a week of gay and glamorous activities and entertainment. Meals and accommodations at a first class hotel also will be provided.

THRILLING WEEK

The wardrobe includes a beautiful evening gown, a bathing suit and other items suitable for a thrilling vacation week. And if "Miss Massachusetts 1940" is selected for the national title, there will be screen tests, some $2500 in contracts, and other opportunities which have brought world fame to such screen stars as Joan Crawford and Dorothy Lamour and many other film luminaries.

If you have beauty and charm and poise, if you have talent as a dancer, singer, entertainer or musician, you may be the very one to qualify for the state title or the national title. Marilyn Mesek, blonde "Miss America 1938," was an obscure dancing teacher in her home town of Marion, O., until her award led to fame and fortune. And the stately Patricia Mary Donnelly, "Miss America 1939," has won opportunities for a glamorous professional career as a result of her election. Miss Donnelly will not compete in this year's pageant, she has announced.

"I've had my opportunity," she says, "and even though there might be a possibility of my winning again, I feel that it is only right and proper that some other girl should enjoy the same thrills and privileges that I have had."

In addition to making about $10,000 this year, I have traveled a lot, met so many wonderful people and I feel I am launched on the professional career I so much desire."

TALENT AND BEAUTY

The beauty contest is open to any Massachusetts girl who is an American citizen of the white race between the ages of 18 and 28, and who never has been married. She may be amateur or professional, but must possess talent as well as beauty. Past professional experience will not be considered, however, in making the award.

Gay and elaborate plans are on foot for the Atlantic City pageant week. There will be beach parties, a yachting trip, luncheons and dinners at swank cafes and hotels, a Mardi Gras, and the climax of the Coronation Ball at midnight on Sept. 7, where the crowning of "Miss America 1940" will take place. Fill out the accompanying blank NOW, and read the complete list of rules accompanying this announcement. This is your opportunity to collect golden dividends from your beauty. And watch this paper for further instructions concerning the state contest for "Miss Massachusetts 1940."

WINNER OF the title of Miss Miami, blonde, 18-year-old Mitzie Strother will be one of the several beauties who will compete in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City in September. And along with her will be a charming Massachusetts girl, who will be selected by the Boston American-Record and Sunday Advertiser. Clashes at Timilty Laundry Suit Trial

Marked by constant clashes between counsel, trial of four equity suits brought by laundry companies against Police Commissioner Timilty, his brother, Walter H. Timilty, and the latter's Elk Laundry Co., Inc., began today in superior court before Judge Allan G. Buttrick.

On objections by defense counsel—F. T. Leahy for the police commissioner and Charles M. Hamilton for the laundry owner—Judge Buttrick repeatedly excluded testimony that police allegedly had influenced tavern and cafe proprietors to switch their laundry business.

Atty. George R. Farnum, counsel for the plaintiffs, vainly made offers of proof while Thomas C. Stretch, partner with his brother, George L. Stretch, in the Suffolk Apron and Towel Supply Co., was on the witness stand.

Then counsel for the defendants objected to Farnum's method of offering proof, with the result that afterward Farnum made his offers at the bench.

FALLON PRESENT

Present in the courtroom was Police Supt. Edward W. Fallon, because of allegations that Boston police officers had been instrumental in persuading clients of the laundry companies to switch their patronage to the Elk Laundry Co., Inc.

Also present was Police Stenographer William Shanahan, but neither the police commissioner nor this brother was observed. Thomas C. Stretch, the first witness, said that his partner, George L. Stretch, is also an attorney on the staff of Dist. Atty. William J. Foley, in charge of examination of bail bonds.

The witness said 95 per cent of his company's business is done in Boston. Asked the number of customers he had lost between Jan. 1, 1938, and Jan. 1, 1940, Stretch said that 84½ per cent of the lost business went to the Elk Laundry. All the lost business, he said, was in Boston, and none of it was outside the city, although the Elk Laundry also operates outside of Boston.

CITES TAVERN BUSINESS

All customers lost, excepting one, the witness testified, were in the liquor business—taverns or cafeterias. The witness said that both he and Walter Timilty belonged to the Metropolitan Lien Club in 1938, and that in the fall of that year, about two weeks before the elections, he was talking to Walter in the club quarters at the Hotel Lenox.

"Walter Timilty said to me," Stretch testified, "that he was going to resign from the club; that there was nothing in it for him; that he didn't know how long his brother was going to be police commissioner and he was going to make hay while the sun shined."

MOTHER HEARS PATRICIDE PLEA

BROCKTON, July 15—With his mother and sister facing him in court, Carlton Burr, 27, pleaded not guilty here today to the bread-knife murder of his 53-year-old father.

The body of Roy O. Burr, WPA worker and former champion bowler, was found Saturday in the kitchen of the Burr home in Roseter st. by his 12-year-old daughter, Lillian.

Police quoted young Burr as saying:

"I did it because I thought it was coming to him."
According to the youth's confession, he killed his father because he "was not good enough" to his other brothers and sisters, police said.

Haggard, but expressionless, Burr was taken before Judge William G. Rowe, who continued the case to July 26 and held Burr without bail on a first degree murder charge.

His mother, Mrs. Ethel Burr, and a sister, Mrs. Florence Tobin, confronted him as he said "Not guilty" in a low voice. He was removed, handcuffed, to Plymouth jail.

Medical Examiner Alphonse F. Badreski reported the victim had been stabbed 13 times and that his lung, stomach and liver had been punctured.

ROBERT WADLOW
Famed Giant Dead

2 Face Court in Fake Cash Hunt

LOWELL, July 15.—Two alleged counterfeiters faced appearances in two courts today while Secret Service agents sought to trace the source of spurious currency to Boston.

The accused were identified by authorities as John Brunelle, 39, of Moody st., and Carl Deering, 31, of Appleton st. Deering, police said, is on parole from a Vermont jail and has a long record.

The men were summoned to district court and later in the day face countfeifling charges before U. S. Commr. Richard E. Walsh. Lowell police said the men passed counterfeit $10 bills in Lowell and Lawrence.

French Woman War Pilot Wins Cross

VICHY, July 15 (AP).—A woman pilot of the French air force, who was captured by Germans in the last month of the war and then escaped and rejoined her squadron before the armistice, was awarded the war cross of France with a special citation for bravery today.

She is Claire Roman, civilian pilot since 1932, and veteran of overseas flights to the French East Indies and French Morocco.

Hiker Denied Ride, Rips Off Car Door

Using a description furnished by Leonard Kadiah of Lyford st., Dorchester, Back Bay police searched today for an impulsive hitch-hiker who, refused a ride in Kadiah's car, seized a handle and tore off a door.

Kadiah and two friends chased the youth from Beacon st. to Copley sq., where they tried to hold him for police. He beat his would-be captors off, however, and escaped.

8½-FOOT YOUTH, WORLD'S TALLEST, DIES OF INFECTION

MANISTEE, Mich., July 15 (AP).—Robert Wadlow, the 22-year-old Alton, Ill., "giant" who was 8 feet 9½ inches tall and was believed the world's tallest man, died here early today from complications following a foot infection.

Wadlow, who was making a professional appearance as the "World's Tallest Man" at the national forest festival here, suffered an infection in his left ankle more than a fortnight ago. The youthful giant's condition grew steadily worse, and physicians gave him a blood transfusion yesterday and performed a minor operation on his foot last night. His temperature all of yesterday was reported as "never over than 106." He died at 1:40 (m. (EST)).

Under the management of his father, Harold F. Wadlow, Sr., the young man was sponsored on his appearance here by a shoe company.

A child of normal size at birth, Wadlow weighed 491 pounds while making his last public appearance. Medical men said his great weight resulted from over-activity of the pituitary gland.

Wadlow suffered his injury July 4. A brace worn on his ankle chafed, and infection set in. He was confined to his hotel rather than a hospital. His condition had become "very grave" yesterday, and he was taking nourishment through a tube.

Father, mother, two sisters and two brothers all were of normal stature. Robert weighed eight and a half pounds at birth, Feb. 22, 1918. By the time Robert reached young manhood the elder Wadlow's shoulders came only to his son's hips.

Scientists classified him as an "acromegalic type," designating a person whose growth has been abnormal because of over-activity of the pituitary, lying at the base of the brain.

Batista Leads In Cuban Vote

HAVANA, July 15 (AP)—Fulgencio Batista, who once gained a narrow fame as the best stenographer in the Cuban army, appeared today to have won election as President of his country.

In voting yesterday, marked by scattered violence in which five persons were killed, Batista was credited unofficially with gaining three to two, or better, margin of victory over former President Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin.

In 1574 precincts out of the island's 5580, Batista had 239,263 votes to 140,460 for the former president.

In the race for mayor of Havana, second most important elective office in Cuba, Raul Menocal, a Batista man, had 64,304 votes to 59,022 votes for Miguel Mariano Gomez, adherent of the Grau group, in 331 of the city's 844 precincts. The President-elect is scheduled to take office next October 1 for a four-year-term.

BEDFORD, July 15—The body of an unidentified man about 65 was found today under the West Bedford bridge by a truck driver from a nearby farm.

Cyrus Downey discovered the body, rolled pair of trousers under the head. Medical Examiner O. Lawrence Clark said the man had been dead about six weeks and that death was due to natural causes.

Roxbury Youth's Body Recovered

FRYEBURG, Me., July 15 (AP)—The body of Gerald Robtson, of Roxbury, Mass., was recovered from the Saco river today and Medical Examiner K. E. Dore said the youth had drowned when he suffered cramps while swimming.

A search for the youth was started last night after he failed to return to a camp where he was employed.

Cops Top Honors

HANDSOMEST ICEMAN—Toting his ice as he does every day around South Boston, Joseph O'Neill, 20, flashes championship form along with his smile . . . and cops title of New England's handsomest iceman at Norumbega Park. Next October he'll compete for national title in New Orleans, the winner of which will be given a film role.

HANDSOMEST ICEMAN COLD TO LOVE URGE

Cupid got the chill today from the South Boston Adonis who has been picked officially as New England's handsomest iceman.

For girls cut no ice in his life, said Joseph O'Neill, 20, and a bachelor of East 2d st.

"Just put me down as a woman-hater," he said.

The hazel-eyed, blond, 170-pound frozen water expert smiled when he said it, girls. But practically all his words are accompanied with a tooth paste ad grin.

O'Neill won the glamour prize at the New England Ice Dealers' Association picnic at Norumbega Park, having been chosen over 34 other good-looking ice toters.

FILM CONTRACT?

He was presented with two statues depicting ice men in action and a pair of silver ice tongs. But that isn't all.

By virtue of his victory, he stands in line to win a Hollywood film contract, for the contest was more than just a gag.

Behind the stunt is the National Association of Ice Industries, which plans to turn out a dramatic movie with the help of Paramount pictures built around the role of an ice man.

If O'Neill wins against nine other contestants at New Orleans in October, he is promised a screen test and a contract.

"Sure, I'll go to Hollywood if I win, but I won't stay there," said O'Neill, who delivers around the City Point section.

Two of his brothers are in the business with Joe. Their father, Michael J. O'Neill, started it.

TOO BUSY FOR GIRL

Deluged by reporters and some 500 spectators who witnessed the contest, O'Neill took all the ribbing good naturedly.

He did not want to enter the contest, it seems. His family had to hunt for him when came time for the male judges to decide.

"I'm too busy to have a girl," he said in answer to questions. "What do I want to be? Just what I am now, an iceman. I don't talk about anything when I deliver except ice."

Identity of Beach Victim Is Sought

Metropolitan police today sought to identify the body of a youth, recovered from the Charles River off Huck's Beach, Brighton, after officers discovered a bundle of clothing.

The victim was one of four persons to die in New England water and highway mishaps during the weekend, when ideal summer weather made beach and country resorts magnets for thousands.

No clue as to the identity of the Brighton victim was found, other than his clothing, which consisted of a grey shirt, brown trousers, black shoes and black socks. He was five feet, nine inches tall, weighed 123, had brown eyes and black hair.

In Danvers, firemen recovered the body of Roger Pelletier, 15, from the Danvers River, swept in to the Water st. sluiceway in Danvers by the swift ebb tide after a boat capsized.

CYCLIST KILLED

Killed in highway accidents were two cyclists, Howard Scanlon, 16, of Church st., Dorchester, fatally hurt when thrown from a bicycle, and Quirino Piccolo, 68, of Newbury, R. I., whose motorcycle collided with an auto.

Numerous rescues from drowning were witnessed by beach throngs, while 22 persons were saved from two sinking boats in Boston harbor.

Stella Boutin, 18, of Mead st., Somerville, was found in the rescue of Miss Emilia Hendrickson, 35, of Linden ave., Somerville, at Revere Beach. Seeing Miss Hendrickson sink from sight, the Boutin girl swam to the woman, held her up and cried for help.

Louis Rathson of Milwaukee pulled both to shore just as Miss Boutin fainted.

Sixteen persons were rescued from the burning 36-foot cruiser Donna Rea near Deer Island, after the craft was set ablaze by an engine backfire. Its owner, Robert T. Tull of Medford, signaled for help while he fought to keep the flames from the gasoline tank.

FUTILE ATTEMPTS

Eleven of those aboard were transferred to a sailing ship while two more were taken by a motorboat. Tull and two others fled the cruiser in a tender when it became apparent that they could not put out the fire.

Those rescued were Tonti and his wife, Dina; Augusto Volpini, Bennington st., East Boston, his wife, Emma, and two children, Alfred, 9, and Louis, 13; Mr. and Mrs. Jino Ortolani, Duroso st., Malden, and their son, Aldo, 13; Mr. and Mrs. Attilio Ugucioni, Gladstone st., East Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bizzo, William st., Medford; Orlinda Carlin, Vinton st., South Boston; Francis Gallagher, Pearl st., Cambridge, and Robert Stewart, Putnam ave., Cambridge. At Nantucket, four persons were rescued by two youths in a sailboat when their power dory overturned. The four were Bernard Rites, Robert Jones, Louis and Jacob Feinbold, all of U. S. 1, Alorton.

NEWTON STAYING HOME

Because of the war and the weather, Newton for the most part is staying at Newton this summer. Police Capt. Nicholas Veducci said today. Only 750 Newton homes have been closed for the summer as compared to nearly 1300 closed during the two months before the outbreak of the war, he said.

SHIELDS' BRIDE HAS SAD TASK

BIRTH CONWAY, N. H., July 15—Donna Marina Torlonia today had the problem of telling her titled mother that she has become the second wife of Frank X. Shields, the tennis star.

Frank Shields

And according to friends, the news will be a blow to the mother Princess Elsie Torlonia, the former Elsie Moore of New York, widow of Don Marino Duke of Torlonia.

Princess Torlonia now is abroad. The marriage of Shields and Donna didn't come exactly as a surprise to friends. The romance has been on the boards for two years, it was said.

Recently, when the tennis star was divorced by the former Rebecca Tenny in Connecticut, friends began to expect wedding invitations.

The ceremony was more or less secret, however, in the home of Mrs. Wendell D. Woodbury of North Conway. Donna and Shields have been guests of Mrs. Harvey D. Gibson and her daughter, Mrs. Stanton Griffin, while he played in the Eastern Slope Gold Racquet Tennis tournament.

The newlyweds will leave soon for a honeymoon on the yacht Rampage.

Donna's sister, Cristina, eloped with Daniel Lord of Harrison, N. Y., in 1932, but since has divorced him. Her brother, Don Alessandro is married to the Infanta Beatriz, daughter of the former King and Queen of Spain.

EVEN DRAWBRIDGE HAS DRAWBACK--R. R. PAYS

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., July 15 (INS)—The New York Central R. R. had learned much to its grief today that to Ray Douglas of New York a drawbridge is a drawback.

Once upon a time the Central had a drawbridge at Peekskill across the inlet on Annville creek. About eight years ago traffic on the creek dwindled to nothing and the railroad gave up operating the drawbridge, nailing the tracks down.

But the Central hadn't reckoned with Douglas. Last spring he bought property along the inlet and a motor cruiser anchored there.

North Shore Bandits Escape in Gun Battle

their beds and robbed included Donald Burho, George Kynacos, Louis Gerulli, Giulio Franchi, William Corbett, Martin Tikal, Mario di Scullo, Lacey Cortopassi and Roland Lopez.

Believing they had cut all telephone wires into the Casino, the gunmen took their time about the holdup, spending almost an hour and a half in the Magnolia resort. As they finally fled, however, they were closely pursued by Manchester and Magnolia police, warned over a closet telephone on a Casino line the bandits had overlooked.

Headed by Police Chief George W. Dean of Manchester, police engaged the desperadoes in a running gun fight which continued at breakneck speed through winding Magnolia and Essex highways.

One of the bandit bullets smashed through Chief Dean's car windshield to back window. Another pierced the sleeve of the chief's uniform coat.

At least one of the bandits was using a sub-machine gun, police said.

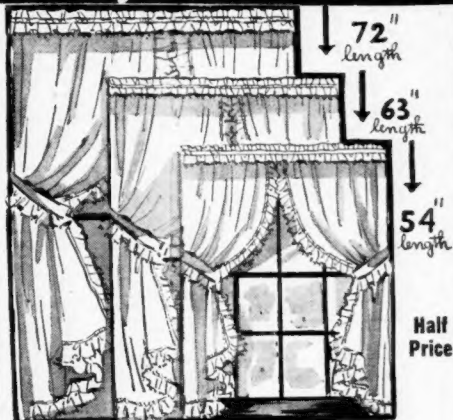

The fugitives finally escaped across a drawbridge near Gloucester just as the draw was opening.

Police pursuers were balked when they reached the shore to find the bridge up and a vessel passing through.

In an earlier robbery today, the same bandit gang looted a West Springfield food shop of $527, then kidnaped and beat the manager.

Zog Offered Haven Fr. Divine Declined

NEWPORT, R. I., July 15—Mrs. Angela Coyle Kaufman, widow of the safety razor millionaire, today disclosed that she will convert her $250,000 castle here into a haven for Royal refugees this summer.

Among those expected to take advantage of her invitation—bed and board free—are King Zog and Queen Geraldine of Albania, and their baby son, Prince Skander, now in exile.

Last year the castle was offered to Father Divine as a new "Heaven" by Mrs. Kaufman, but Father Divine declined the proffer.

Count Jerry Potocki and his refugee wife and little son who arrived in New York a few days ago, have been invited to stay in the castle, Mrs. Kaufman said.

"I shall have Poles, Belgians, Albanians, Czechs, White Russians, French and British refugees with me before long," she said.

She is turning the large center wing of her stone residence on Greenough ave. into a royal haven, to be maintained by a private trust fund left to her by her late husband.

The castle is now self-supporting, explained Mrs. Kaufman, who recently obtained a liquor license after a year's battle with the city licensing board.

Referring to this fight as one of "principle," she said: "I do not expect the castle to be in the profit making business, but I want it to pay for its upkeep partly so that I can help those persons who are suffering through world tragedies out of their own making."

JAP NAVY TO BLOCK OFF CHINA

SHANGHAI, July 15 (AP)—The Japanese navy moved today to close the last loopholes along the China coast through which supplies have been reaching that part of China still holding out against Japanese invasion.

Vice-Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, commander-in-chief of the Japanese China Sea fleet, issued a proclamation prohibiting traffic from midnight tonight (11 a. m. EST) of all ships in specified areas along the coasts of Chekiang and Fukien provinces, South of Shanghai.

Shipping of all foreign powers, but many of Great Britain, will be affected and British authorities announced immediately they would insist on the right of British ships to remain in the forbidden areas or to enter them or depart.

They said they would hold the Japanese responsible for any losses suffered.

"Military necessity" was given as the reason for the Japanese move.

Admiral Shimada's proclamation said ships entering or attempting to enter the areas concerned would be detained by the Japanese navy which would assume no responsibility for any losses incurred.

Areas affected included those around Hangchow, Port at the Head of Hangchow Bay, 110 miles southwest of Shanghai, in Chekiang province; Wenchow, also in Chekiang province, and Foochow, capital of Fukien province.

New Isle Off Japan Formed by Volcano

TOKYO, July 15 (AP)—The newspaper Asahi reported Monday that volcanic disturbances in the Miyake Island region had thrust a new island above the waters off the Miyake coast to a height of approximately 150 feet.

The area of the island was not given. Miyake Island is about 100 miles south of Tokyo.

Late War Bulletins

BUCHAREST, July 15 (AP)—The Rumanian government requisitioned today all the country's 9000 tank cars, including 1000 either owned or leased by United States interests. The companies now must apply to the government for cars, telling how many they need and where they are shipping them.

BERLIN, July 15 (AP, by Radio)—The Berlin radio said today the first meeting of the new French cabinet would be held at Vichy tonight.

RIGA, Latvia, July 15 (AP)—National flags of the three Baltic states, Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia, waved beside Red hammer-and-sickle emblems of Soviet Russia at polling places as the electorates voted for new parliaments today.

TOKYO, July 15 (AP)—The combined Japanese fleet will be concentrated off Yokosuka Thursday for an inspection by Emperor Hirohito, the imperial household announced today.

to protect any part of the empire "with over a thousand armed ships under the white ensign patrolling the seas."

Then, looking beyond the "impending assault which we await undismayed," he asked, "why do I dwell on all this?"

"Not, surely, to induce any slackening of effort or vigilance," he said. "On the contrary, these must be redoubled and we must prepare not only for the summer but for the winter, not only for 1941 but for 1942, when the war will, I trust, take a different form from the defensive in which it has hitherto been bound."

Even as he spoke, Britain issued a new tally of that "defensive" war.

In the air, she claimed five Nazi dive-bombers and two escorting fighter planes brought down during an attack on a ship convoy in the Dover Straits yesterday. One R. A. F. plane was lost then. R. A. F. raiders Saturday night struck at 14 airbases and other military objectives in Germany, Holland and Belgium and downed one Nazi defending plane.

The loss of one R. A. F. plane was acknowledged.

A "few enemy aircraft" dropped bombs in southeast and southwest England last night with "slight injury" to one person, the government announced.

OTTAWA, July 15 (AP)—A war-induced boom occurred in the marriage market in parts of Canada over the week-end. Authorities attributed a large number of weddings to the government ruling that men married after yesterday would be considered unmarried for the purposes of the national registration through which Canada will take stock of her human resources as a part of her war effort.

The announcement Friday of the ruling prompted many couples to advance their weddings and in some cities the demand for marriage licenses exceeded the supply.

In Montreal, hundreds of couples flocked to marriage license bureaus.

ROOSEVELT CONCLAVE BOSS

month there is a malignant case of apathy here.

True, the delegates are tramping on each other's toes and squirming around the lobbies. Bell boys are hustling through the upstairs hallways with nickled buckets containing shaved ice and something in a baby-dimpled bottle.

The same hilarious haw-haws float down the elevator wells. Human nature is the same on holiday whether Democrat or Republican. But where the Republican candidates came on the scene early and stayed late at Philadelphia there are only a few here and only one is attempting to whip up enthusiasm for his cause with the circus trappings and hi-dios of the political arena.

The rest, Burton Wheeler, Jim Farley, Sam Rayburn, Paul McNutt and other wistful watchers have either set up offices or not set them up, in the spirit of "Aw shucks! Why waste money and time when the fruit cake is already cut?"

GARNER EXCESSION

Cactus Jack Garner is the lone exception. For Garner, less from a desire to add the presidential nomination to his string of other triumphs, than from a well-known antagonism to New Deal autocracies and the belief that a Third Term attempt would destroy party unity, is after the nomination with his characteristic vigor.

He has not come to Chicago in person and his campaign manager doesn't think he will. But he has freighted up a stuffed Texas steer, some hand-tooled saddles, guns and a carload of cactus plants.

The Harden-Simmons college cowboy band is tooting and yipping up and down Michigan avenue headquarters are handing out celluloid "Go with Garner" buttons large as pie plates and his portraits, like a pink-and-white parakeet, adorn downtown windows.

Cactus Jack has become a one-man "Stop Roosevelt" drive, although as far as this convention goes he might as well try to catch the West wind in his ten-gallon hat.

Not all the delegates are happy, however, and here and there one senses, rather than hears, a ground rumble of discontent—a mind-you-I'm-not-criticizing—BUT sort of attitude as though to make a complaint out loud about the Boss is like whistling in church.

There are three kinds of Democrats here, (1)—those who swallow the tenets of the Administration blindly and lick the party spoon; (2)—those who trail along doubtfully as hereditary loyalists and wish for a cure, and (3)—a small minority who are out of patience with the New Deal.

GRUMBLINGS ONLY

Jim Farley and Burton Wheeler lead the second group, limiting their criticism to back stairs grumblings, occasional shrugs or irritation and secret intrigue.

Garner is frankly in the third class. Yet the delegates continued by these three probably won't muster 200 and the only prospect of a "Block Roosevelt" movement must therefore come from Roosevelt himself, in the remote possibility bility that after being given the nomination his natural love for theatricals might cause him to reject and name his successor.

The notion is discarded as ridiculous.

The odd part of this convention, thus far, is that Democratic big wigs, most of all Farley, have hidden themselves away and refuse to be interviewed, almost as though they feared that a slip of the tongue might reveal some profound secret.

You don't just walk into one man's headquarters, as you did in Philadelphia last month and ask impetuousness of the headman and get an answer. You don't sit on press forums and jot down the latest gem of wisdom. You don't see anybody who knows any thing or who is willing to say anything if he knew it.

For, indeed, the only man who knows the answers is the head man in Washington.

It's like a gigantic punch-and-judy show, being worked by unseen hands with the performance being ad libbed from behind the scenes. From a Roosevelt viewpoint the tactics are perfect!

PAYROLL MEN SET TO RENAME F. D.

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
(Special to the Boston Evening American)

CHICAGO, July 15—Held together by the cohesive power of public patronage, the most shameless jobholders' convention in political history awaits the White House signal to proceed with the third term nomination of President Roosevelt.

The 3000 or more delegates and alternates who are ready, largely from self interest, to violate a tradition established by Washington, represent the gigantic New Deal bureaucracy created by Mr. Roosevelt and subservient to him. This bureaucracy, which has assembled in Chicago to nominate a candidate for President, has passed in federal office-holders alone the one million mark in numerical strength.

8 BILLIONS ANNUALLY
These in turn are tied in with state and local political office-holding machines. The federal and state bureaucratic organizations together constitute the most far-reaching, richly financed and strongly entrenched political despotism America has ever known.

There have been disturbing rumors in Washington of the amazing effrontery with which official New Deal higher-ups have inspired and directed the election of third-term delegates.

The aggregate annual emoluments received by these job-holding delegates and those upon New Deal federal, state, county and city payrolls amount to not less than $3,000,000,000, the richest prize for the spoilsman the world has ever seen.

Only by Roosevelt's renomination can the payee perhaps remain in power and thus continue its control of a federal and local patronage so vast that it is now taking for its support one dollar out of every eight of the taxpayers' total annual income throughout the land.

N. E.'s 91 ON PAYROLL

A careful check thus far of the connections and affiliations of delegates and alternates reveals that officeholders of all classes probably constitute not less than 40 per cent of the entire convention.

These are mostly state and local officeholders, rather than federal. They hold the key places.

In New England, the six states—Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut—have sent 91 persons to the Democratic convention who are on the public payroll.

More than 20 per cent of Massachusetts' delegation—44 of 144 delegates, and alternates—are public jobholders.

One-fourth of Rhode Island's delegation, 8 out of 32 delegates and alternates, are public jobholders.

total of 24 at the convention.

Maine's delegation of 40 delegates and alternates with half a vote each shows up with six pay-rollers.

Vermont, one of the states which have resisted the inroads of federal bureaucracy, with a total of 10 delegates and 10 alternates, possessing six votes, has only two public job-holders in its delegation.

The latest list of names of jobholders at the convention follows:

RHODE ISLAND: Theodore Francis Green, U. S. senator; Thomas P. McCoy, mayor of Pawtucket; Harry F. Curvin, Pawtucket public safety director; Albert J. Lamarre, Pawtucket public works commissioner; Frank Rao, Providence alderman; James H. Kierman, state representative; Thomas S. Luongo, Providence alderman; Walter Sepe, state representative.

NEW HAMPSHIRE: D. Mase Caron, mayor of Manchester; William H. Craig, Manchester city solicitor; Henry J. Proulx, mayor of Franklin; Raymond B. Stevens, chairman of the Federal Tariff Commission; William H. McCann, Dover city clerk; George A. Wingate, Manchester sealer of weights and measures.

Also from New Hampshire are Valmore G. Gagne, son of the internal revenue collector for New Hampshire; Robert C. Murchie, brother of the U. S. District Attorney for New Hampshire; and John J. Sheehan, former Manchester city solicitor.

VERMONT: Matthew G. Leary, state senator; Carlos D. Foss, state representative.

MAINE: Frank Despins, mayor of Lewiston; Wilfred Landry, mayor of Biddeford; Paul Dundas, mayor of Waterville; Alexander MacNichol, state representative; Armand Duquette, Biddeford city clerk; Florence M. Latne, state representative.

REAPING PUBLIC SPOILS
The survey shows the following regarding the various states newly tabulated:

CONNECTICUT—With 48 delegates and 48 alternates, a total of 96 men and women, 25 hold important federal, state or city jobs.

ILLINOIS—Out of 164 delegates and alternates (controlling 58 convention votes) this state has the largest percentage of New Deal office holders, with 108 on public payrolls.

VIRGINIA—A total of 18 on public payrolls.

SOUTH CAROLINA—Fifteen delegates on public payrolls.

WOODRING FIGHTS MEDDLING IN WAR

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 15—Former Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, who quit President Roosevelt's cabinet a month ago after a behind-the-scenes fight against Allied aid, today said he would go to the floor of the Democratic convention, if necessary, to battle for a non-intervention platform plank.

Possibility of this move was unfolded as leaders on the resolutions committee made it plain they would tolerate nothing which reflects upon Mr. Roosevelt's handling of foreign affairs.

Woodring, who was replaced by Henry L. Stimson, outright interventionist, voiced a grim determination to fight to the finish for his plank. It declares:

"We are for a policy of non-intervention in the politics, as well as the military affairs, of the world."

"The plank will be laid before the committee by the Kansas members," said Woodring. "If I don't get any place that way, I shall ask to appear in person. If that fails, I will go before the convention advocating it."

BATTLE OVER DRAFT

The attitude of isolationists stiffened as the resolutions committee neared close of hearings and prepared to turn actual drafting of the platform to a 15-man sub-committee packed by Rooseveltians.

Battles over compulsory military training and the Wagner Labor Act also loomed. A proposed foreign policy plank, pledging the Democratic party to prevent American involvement in any foreign war, was drafted by Senators Wheeler, Montana; Clark, Missouri; Johnson, Colorado; Worth Clark, Idaho, and McCarran, Nevada.

It declared: "For us to attempt, by war, to reform all Europe and bring them back to principles of morality and a respect for the equal rights of nations would show us to be only maniacs of another nature."

"We, therefore, pledge that our every effort shall be directed against the involvement of this nation in any foreign war," the plank read.

FOR HEMISPHERE DEFENSE
The proposed resolution declared strongly for a Western Hemisphere defense.

"We are unalterably opposed to any encroachment by any foreign power in the affairs of this hemisphere, and likewise to any attempt on the part of the Americas to dictate or control the affairs of other powers," it read.

Sen. Wheeler served notice that the group is ready, like Woodring, to go to the convention floor, if necessary, to force adoption of a strong isolationist plank.

Administration leaders were confident of adoption of a harmonious foreign policy plank, proclaiming the Democratic party a "peace party."

"The foreign plank of the platform will be based on the President's recent message to Congress in which he said that no troops would be sent to Europe," said Sen. Winston, Indiana. "There will be a strong peace plank in the platform."

Administration leaders, seeking harmony, apparently ignored Sen. Key, Indiana, Nevada, chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who has aroused wide controversy by bitter "hate" speeches against foreign nations.

Bay Staters Urge Farley Quit Race

Commerce Harry L. Hopkins—will say he will accept it. Privately, they say they are not certain he will seek a third term.

The predominant rumor is that Mr. Roosevelt will accept the third term nomination if it is unopposed and he can choose his own running-mate. The "inner circle" leaders deny this and assert that they have had no direct word from the President on the third term issue on the question of an acceptable running-mate.

Until Farley announced yesterday he was in the fight to the finish, many of the New York leaders believed he would withdraw from the race before the balloting started. They still hope to persuade him that he should do so.

Informed that Senator Carter Glass would be unable to nominate him, Farley announced today his nominating speech would be made by Patrick Fisher, Democratic chairman of Farley's home county, Rockland.

BAY STATERS WORRIED

The Massachusetts delegation, or most of it, was perturbed by Farley's declaration that the Bay State group was pledged to him, that he expected the pledge to be kept and that he anticipated he would receive most of the votes from that State.

Massachusetts leaders hastily arranged for a talk with Farley, at which they planned to warn him of his lack of strength in the delegation and to emphasize that their pledge to support him was conditional, based on the opposition President Roosevelt would not accept renomination.

Some of the New York leaders, most closely associated with Farley over the years, intend to point out that the Massachusetts defection will prevent him from making a strong showing on the first ballot and that there is nothing to be gained by picking up a handful of votes.

Those booming Hull for the vice-presidency argued that his nomination would be a token to Latin America that the "Good Neighbor" policy would be continued by the Democrats.

Still others were arguing, however, that for the sake of party solidarity, Vice-President Garner should be renominated.

But the town was filled with potential vice-presidential candidates. They were to be seen from the edges of Michigan Boulevard all the way into the middle of the Loop.

McNUTT OUT

Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, Federal Security Administrator, wandered among the plush furnishings of a palatial hotel suite shaking hands with all comers. He has withdrawn from the presidential race, unless Mr. Roosevelt renounces another nomination.

Speaker Bankhead held a press conference. So did Chairman Farley, Sen. Byrnes of South Carolina was in evidence, Jesse H. Jones of Texas, who runs the lending agencies of the federal government, was here. So was Rep. Rayburn of Texas, the House floor leader, who, like Jones, is a close friend of Garner.

Of this group, only Senator Wheeler of Montana—like Garner and Farley a presidential aspirant—removed himself from the Vice-Presidential race.

He was devoting much of his energy to obtaining a strong "non-intervention" foreign policy plank in the party platform. Early today he reached an agreement with four other Senators on a declaration which they planned to submit to the resolutions committee.

FARLEY DEFIES F. D. AIDES

personality at the convention. He is sought out by the delegates and their friends, by the press and by practically everybody who has anything to do at the convention.

He knows personally more people at this convention than any other man. The affable national chairman seems to have a million friends and no enemies.

His daily press conferences are a highlight of the convention and always attracts 200 or more newspaper men and women. He can handle a press conference as skillfully as any man in public life, including President Roosevelt.

Farley told the press he intended to ask Sen. Carter Glass to nominate him. He described Glass as "a great American."

"How about Massachusetts?" he was asked.

"They're pledged to me and I assume they'll keep their pledge," he replied.

He declined to estimate how many votes he would receive on the first ballot.

He said the convention would be handled in a fair, open manner. He remarked that any attempt to go contrary to regular nomination of all candidates would be "deeply resented by the delegates."

"This is a Democratic convention and the delegates have a right to express themselves freely and frankly," he said.

Farley was asked if it were not true that New Dealers had been urging him to remain as national chairman in the event Roosevelt was renominated.

He replied that "a great many people" had asked him to stay on the ground that it would be helpful to the party.

"Does that include the so-called Hopkins crowd?" a reporter inquired. Farley smiled and replied he didn't know what was meant by the Hopkins group.

"Let's put it this way," he said. "A great many fine Democrats have called on me for that purpose."

A reporter in the rear of the room shouted:

"Jim, who's running this convention?"

"I often wonder," Farley grinned.

"Can't that secret Mr. Roosevelt let you in on be told now?" someone asked. "Not by me," replied Farley.

Shark Captors Tell Of Thrilling Fight

Two conquerors of a 15-foot shark today told a thrilling story of how they captured the heavyweight after a two-and-a-half hour battle off Point Shirley, Winthrop.

Charles H. Smith, Jr., 36, a lobster fisherman, and his helper, Thomas Mack, 18, both of Pearl Ave., Beachmont, were returning from their lobster pots in their 32-foot boat when they sighted the 1500-pound shark about a mile offshore.

HURLS HARPOON
While Mack piloted the boat, Smith hauled a large harpoon which plunged into the shark's back.

The huge fish headed for the open sea, towing the boat behind him on 100 feet of heavy rope which the men had snubbed on the drum of a small derrick. Enraged, the shark twisted and turned but finally tired and after two and a half hours, it floated alongside. The men, unable to boat the shark, towed it to Rice Wharf in Winthrop.

BATHERS UNAWARE
Smith's father, a fisherman for more than 50 years, said it was the largest shark he had ever seen. Thousands of persons who had been bathing were unaware of the battle outside the breakwater until Smith and Mack towed the shark before their astonished eyes.

BOOH!!—Believed the largest ever caught in this section, this 15-foot shark, weighing nearly a ton, was caught yesterday off Pt. Shirley, Winthrop... harpooned by Capt. John Mack. Lifted out of the water with an auto derrick to be photographed, the fish was then towed out into the harbor and sunk.

MYSTERY WOMAN IS WITNESS IN RICE CASE

OAK BLUFFS, July 15—A surprise witness today figured in the case of R. Huntington Rice, voice teacher, accused of the sex murder of Mrs. Clara M. Smith, 70, Dorchester widow and Christian Science reader.

Summoned to appear before the special session of the grand jury which will hear Rice's case Wednesday, she was reported to be a friend of both of the accused and the dead woman.

State detectives have been guarding her identity since she was first interviewed after Mrs. Smith's body was found in a bloodstained bed at the Rice School of the Spoken Word.

Meanwhile, Harry L. Peakes, foreman of the grand jury, announced the work of gathering together the jury had been completed.

GOD GOOD, SAYS BOY REFUGEE

"God was good to us."

With these simple, sincere words a 14-year-old boy gravely expressed his gratitude that he and his amiable sister could be among the first British children to find refuge in free America.

Delek Melins, 14, and his sister, Joan, 10, arrived in Boston on the S. S. Yarmouth on their way to the home of an uncle in Brooklyn, N. Y. Sady they told of their parting from their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sydney Melins of London, in Ely, England, the town to which she had been evacuated first, Joan saw bombs drop and explode, although a toll of three dead cows was their greatest damage.

Delek described two air raid alarms which sounded as he and his sister were boarding the liner Monarch of Bermuda at Liverpool for their trip to Halifax. In each case, he said, the planes turned out to be British patrol ships. More than 200 aliens from Canada made up the group which included the Melins children.

Man Found Dead in Auto Called Suicide

The death of Svanil L. Sjogren, 32, of Elks parkway, Norwood, who was found dead in his parked auto in Westwood, was described today as a suicide by Medical Examiner Otto Schofield.

Carbon monoxide poisoning was the direct cause of death, Dr. Schofield said.

M. I. T. LABORATORY FIRE

Fire Capt. Edward Murphy of Engine 7 was overcome and valuable scientific instruments were damaged in a fire at the John Cummings Laboratory of Mining Engineering at the M. I. T. The fire, confined to the one room, apparently started in some electrical apparatus.

"LET OUR OBJECT BE our country, our whole country, and nothing but our country. And, by the blessing of God, may that country itself become a vast and splendid monument not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace and of liberty upon which the world may gaze with admiration forever."—Daniel Webster.

Harry H. Woodring, who was forced to resign as secretary of war from President Roosevelt's cabinet because he thought more of America and its defenses than of participating in the European war by the sub rosa route, gave to the country some vital truths in his Topeka address.

Mr. Woodring laid down a three-point platform that should have been adopted by the recent Republican Convention and that is recommended for the consideration of the Democratic National Convention at Chicago as an AMERICAN PLATFORM.

THOSE THREE points are:

1. "I hold it not necessary for America to provoke antagonisms with any people because their nation chooses one form of government over another."
 2. "There need be no first line of defense beyond our own possessions if we refrain from provoking belligerency with any of the warring nations."
 3. "We have all we can do to mind our own business and to prepare to insulate this hemisphere from war."
- That is what the American people would vote for overwhelmingly today if it came to a test at the ballot-box. But does this Administration truly desire peace? If so, the path to it lies in these wise words of Mr. Woodring: "A neutral America, with a friendly attitude towards all nations, backed up by a powerfully prepared army and navy, is an America that has anticipated the path of wisdom and the path of peace. It is the only path that America may wisely follow if honestly in search of peace, if honestly determined to keep out of war."

But this non-provocative attitude has not been the policy of this Administration.

On the contrary, the President of the United States has entered one provocative challenge after another.

WE HAVE TODAY, as the Saturday Evening Post says in a vigorous anti-war editorial:

"GOVERNMENT BY EXECUTIVE INSPIRATION!
"WAR BY EXECUTIVE IMPULSE!"

The Administration has weakened our own defenses in order to help foreign nations.

It has stripped the home gun-closet.

It has centered its energies on Europe instead of centering them on the United States.

We can best serve the cause of those fighting against dictators abroad by seeing that the United States, the last island of democracy in the world, abolishes EXECUTIVE DICTATORSHIP at home by restoring our government to the people and their representatives—THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES.

It is they, not the Executive, who should have the yes or no on war.

Today, the American people are not GOING to war.

They are being DRAGGED INTO IT—as they were in 1917.

FEARS OF FIFTH COLUMN activities in the minds of thinking Americans is not limited to consideration of subversive propaganda alone. Nor is it restricted to consideration of those treacherous enough to spread it.

As Professor George Rogers Taylor, of Amherst, told the Summer Institute for Social Progress at Wellesley College, this country is also threatened by those susceptible to Fifth Columnists.

Through no fault of their own perhaps, millions of Americans are today poverty-stricken and penniless. Their freedom is the object of bartering propagandists promising security under a new political rule.

PROTECTION of this great group from their own weakness is a foremost need of the moment. Overcoming their poverty will restore their faith and sustain democracy.

New England should mark well the situation. And do something about it now. No need to wait for national political issues to be solved. And it is the mark of foolishness to wait for Federal gifts.

Let the cities and towns get out and get new business, new industry. Let action and cooperation with private enterprise replace talk.

Work, honestly earned wages alone can defeat the sinister, dread Sixth Columnist of poverty and need.

On the Side

SO MANY DOCTORS disagree on so many things one cannot help but feel the medical profession is in its infancy. Or maybe it's second childhood. Doctors do a lot of guesswork. Yesterday had an argument with a fellow who said six hours sleep was enough for anybody. I claimed ten hours sleep was about right. He said that was too long and bad for the system. Well, to make it short we both were able to produce distinguished medical opinion agreeing with us. Although my opponent claimed his authority was more distinguished than mine. Anyway, mine was distinguished enough for me to go on having ten hours sleep daily. . . . Loretta Young is a success in the films because so many girls look like her. It is estimated there are eight million Loretta Young doubles in the United States.

HAVING A DINNER PARTY soon? How many guests? Brilliant-Savarin said number of guests should never be less than twelve. William King said "not more than seven. Not less than three." Richard Steele said five, no more, no less. Brilliant-Savarin also said guests should know each other, but be of different occupations. The men should be witty, and the women charming, but not flirtatious. Gilbert and Sullivan, however, said of dinner parties: "It isn't so much what's on the table that matters, as what's on the chairs". . . . "My husband puts gravy on rice. What do you think of that?" writes a client. Why, what a wrong with gravy on rice? Seems a good idea to me. . . . Silk stockings are the only prize offered at one bingo game in the beach amusement zone at Asbury Park, N. J., and you should see the mob of wild-eyed women around that place. Women love to gamble but are poor losers and hysterical winners. . . . Add stirring sights in Manhattan. The words engraved in large letters on the front of the Polyclinic hospital, West 49th st. "For the sick regardless of race or creed."

AH, SO YOU'RE a gardener?

All right, how did the poinsettia and the dahlia get their names? Suppose you knew former was named after Joel R. Poinsett, first American ambassador to Mexico and latter after Dr. Dahl, a Swedish botanist. . . . Said good, old Ed Howe: "Instead of loving your enemy, treat your friends a little better". . . . Corn Beef, once a poor man's dish, is now, I am sorry to say, one of the most expensive meats on the market. Best corn beef I ever tasted was at Oliver, Hitchcock's, Park row, Manhattan. And then a wafe of corn beef and beans cost only fifteen cents.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

CHAUTAUQUA, OHIO, July 15—Here it is Sunday morning and we are speeding through peaceful, pleasant American countryside. We passed a village a few minutes ago with people going to church, and now a golf course dotted with players.

Along a country road, several young people on bicycles with packs strapped on the handlebars, are off, I imagine, for a day's picnic and swim in some clear pool.

Thank God, these things can still be for us.

Saturday I had a ride and swim in the morning, and Mrs. Florence Kerr, head of the women's and professional projects in WPA, brought her regional area supervisors for a picnic lunch. We sat in the sun on the lawn and I heard reports of the work being carried on in different parts of the country.

We discussed at some length the relationship of much of the training which is going on under WPA to the emergency situation created by the need for national defense.

I HAVE RECENTLY been looking over a pamphlet called "If War Comes. M. — Day Plan. What Your Government Plans for You," by Donald Edward Keyhoe.

It is very interesting, though the War Department says nothing of the kind has been worked out in such detail and, so far as they are concerned, the whole thing is still in the realm of discussion.

My main objection to this plan is that, while the publication of such a plan may be of value in arousing the United States to the realization of the possibility of some day having to defend its own shores, the plan does not make clear that it is too late to undertake such mobilization when there is an attack.

Mobilization, if it is going to have any different effect, must be perfected long before there is a war in which we can take any part.

Our only hope of keeping the peace which we so prize, is to prove before there is any involvement in war, that we are a unified nation for defense, mobilized that each and every one of us knows what job to do, how and where to do it. Therein lies the one hope for peace.

In the evening a party of us went up for dinner to the Norris Park Point Inn restaurant. The sunset and glow reflected itself on the water. It was a beautiful and calm sight. We sat out on the terrace and some one pointed up in the air when an aeroplane was

JEWELS AT FEET AS ROTHSCHILDS DINE

By Leonard Lyons

Baroness Rothschild

NEW YORK, July 15—POLITICS DEPT.: Emil Ludwig, who is writing the biography of Franklin D. Roosevelt, has completed the entire manuscript—except for the last chapter. Ludwig has covered every phase of the President's life, but only up to June, 1940. The President has not told him what his Third Term plans are—and so the biographer has forwarded to the White House the three possible endings for the book. In the first, Roosevelt refuses a third term, and retires to write; in the second, he accepts the nomination, is defeated for re-election, but then returns to the Presidency in 1944; and in the third, Roosevelt is re-elected in November.

SOCIAL NOTES: Joe E. Lewis sat with Bill Corum at a night-club bar, when a titled foreigner whispered something which Lewis believed to be an insult to Corum. "I'm a very tough guy, and I'm backing you," Lewis assured Corum, "so go ahead, Bill, and tell him you won't take that kind of talk from him. Go ahead, Bill. I'm a tough guy, and I'm with you." Corum addressed the foreigner, and demanded atonement. "I'm sorry; I apologize," the man stated. Lewis and Corum smiled at each other, triumphantly. Corum turned to the foreigner, and continued: "That isn't enough." "Take it easy, Bill," Lewis cautioned. "I ain't that tough."

GDA APPEST

LOCAL NEWS: Federal officials are checking a report that Magda Lupescu arrived in this country, and was at the Hotel Plaza until Wednesday night—when she left for the border. Jack White's 18 Club show will appear in a Saratoga club, for the August racing season. Edgar Auschnitt, brother of Max Auschnitt—Rumania's richest man, who was arrested by his best friend, King Carol, a few months ago—arrived on the Clipper Wednesday. He said that Titulescu, ex-Premier of Rumania and anti-Nazi was scheduled to leave Biarritz with him, but waited two extra days, and was trapped.

FINANCE DEPT.: Wednesday Baron Edward Rothschild, his wife and a group of friends, dined at the Hotel Pierre, where he occupies a suite. The Rothschilds who had arrived on the Clipper earlier that day, all sat at one table. Under that table was a small box, which rested between the Baron's feet. It attracted no attention. The Baron had placed it there, instead of leaving it in his apartment, because the hotel—pursuant to the N. Y. statutes—refused to be responsible for the declared value of the contents of the box—the $1,000,000 worth of jewels brought from France.

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: City Greeter Lou Brems waxed, pencil-point mustache is enough identification, but if the Mayor's official hand-shaker had been clean-shaven Saturday, he might have met with trouble. For several weeks, private sleuths and Boston cops have been tracking down a short-wave apparatus suspected of informing a central clearing house for the state's bookmakers. But the cops weren't sure that a radio rig was being used to flash results and prices to the odds-makers (who no longer make the odds). Quite possibly a system of signaling from a vantage point at the track to neighboring Breed's Hill or some other receiving point outside the track was being used.

WELL, MR. BREMS AND SAMMY GOODWIN, superintendent of markets, arrived at the Downs and adjourned to the Paddock Club. They arrived late, after two races had been run. Mr. Brems is an infrequent visitor to the Paddock Club, and Superintendent Goodwin hasn't been in the place more than twice in five years. Consequently, their identities were known only to Bobby Griffin, manager of the club, and such of their friends as happened to be present. These friends, apparently, did not include the young man who has been trying to help out the sleuths trailing some gentlemen responsible for relaying results of races to the bookmakers.

WHEN THE CITY GREETER BEGAN TO SIGNAL wildly, in a Brems variation of the semaphore system used by the Navy, an amateur sleuth hooted it out of the Paddock Club and into the office used by the Pinkertons. Meantime, Mr. Brems was waving his arms in the air. A detective wasn't available, so the earnest youth who was sure he had found the chief signaler of the coveted racing results, returned to the Paddock Club. Coincidentally, all the professional sleuths were very busy at that moment in questioning, and making an arrest, of a Winthrop man who allegedly was operating a two-way radio hook-up from the same Breed's Hill. Of course, Greeter Brems was unaware of the excitement being generated by his persistent arm-waving from the clubhouse roof. Moreover, he wasn't even questioned. Manager Griffin had straightened out the ambitious attache, and had vouched for the city greeter's innocence. Meantime, Mr. Brems persisted with his signaling. He was trying to attract the attention of his wife in their home on the hill which overlooks the track.

MORE MUSINGS: Police Commissioner Timilty favors a change in the "right of way rule" in Boston which gives a driver who reaches the center of an intersection of two streets first, the right of way. In most states, the "rule of the road" which has worked out successfully, is that the driver of the car on the right of two approaching cars has the right of way. Friends of the commissioner say he thinks legislation should be passed to untangle a controversial and confusing situation.

ROOSEVELT BUYS 'PASTOR HALL'

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 15 Big news! Jimmy Roosevelt has bought "Pastor Hall," a British made motion picture based on the life of Rev. Martin Niemöller who was convicted by the Nazis and sent to a concentration camp a few years ago. So strong is the story of the pastor, who was a leader of the Non-Conformist Confessional Synod of the Lutheran Church, that it will be released as a special movie. Jimmy's mother, the First Lady of the land, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, will act as commentator while Robert Sherwood will author a foreword.

Henry Henigs of the Roosevelt company said that the picture will be released by United Artists in a few months. Niemöller only last September offered to command a submarine for the German navy and was refused. His treason consisted of remarks made from his pulpit which infuriated the Nazi leaders who felt he was unsympathetic to their cause.

EDITH HEAD, Paramount designer, has been spending her evenings in New York in company with Frederick Drake, once rumored engaged to Mary Martin; Maltby Fox, Universal executive, keeping the wires hot telephoning Patricia Morrison; David Selznick has gone East to inspect his new farm in Connecticut; Irene and the children have been there for several weeks.

HUNTZ HALL ("Dead End" kid) and Elsie Anderson, N. T. TWO-MINUTE STORY

DEAR TOM:

I'm lying here looking out the window, comfortable as a kitten and happy as a lark perched on one of the trees outside. Everything is quiet in the hospital now—because the nurses have just collected all the babies and taken them back to the nursery. In a few hours they'll be awake again, and in the chorus of little whining sounds, every Mother will think she recognizes her baby's cry. Maybe we'll all be confused a bit, but anyway, it's a grand feeling to know that one of the hungry voices is calling for you!

I WISH YOU weren't so upset, dear. Everything's all right now. . . all the waiting and fear is over. I don't remember the worry. . . I can't remember the pain. Through it all, I can recall only two things: the look on your face when they wheeled me into the delivery room, and the look on your face when the doctor congratulated you. I knew that it was just the old fear and worry cropping up again. The same old fear that would have kept us from getting married for another year or so—until you had an even $1000.

I was a bold and brazen wench—convinced you that the total balance of $769.54 was enough. And I was right! Everything was pretty nearly perfect that first year. Two months later I discovered I was going to have a baby and the first thing YOU did was to look at our bank balance. The figures $341.75 grinned up at you mischievously. . . and you said to me, like a worried little boy, "How much do babies cost?"

BUT SOMEHOW or other, we managed it. Not in deluxe style, of course, but competently and safely. It's all over now. My money-minded husband, so won't you stop worrying? Everyone thinks perhaps you don't want children—everyone wonders at your odd, quiet way when they congratulate you and then start their good-natured joshing. I'm the only one who knows why you're so serious, even when I try to tell you that everything will work out all right. It's the old money question again—doubling up on you this time, laughing at the budget, winking at your plans, and. . .

There are the babies in the nursery now! Screaming their lungs out! Every Mother thinks she recognizes her own baby's cry. . . I'm listening for a special duet of TWO baby boys.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

BROADCAST over C. B. S.'s "We, the People" the other night. Great fun, that broadcast. Shows what lovely things are happening just around the corner.

There was that story a fellow broadcaster told. An unassuming sort of chap, Thomas Harland. Works in a bank.

"I'm just an average American with a family and a job," he said. "For years I've belonged to a little community church on Staten Island. None of us who go there has much money but we all try to help the church because of the peace it gives us."

RESTING one Sunday in that peace, Thomas Harland realized, with a pang, how shabby his beloved haven looked. No noble carvings, no regal pews, such as other churches had. Above all, no stained glass, to lift a weary spirit above the drab rut of the daily round. And a fine dream came to him. He'd make such a window! But what did a bank worker know about stained glass? Precious little! But he could learn. But stained glass is expensive—far beyond meager means. For that, too, he had an answer. New York is a big place. Old churches are constantly being torn down, replaced. There, in the litter of wreckage lay the material he needed—broken bits of jeweled panes, ruby and sapphire, amethyst, topaz and emerald—his for the asking.

So, nightly, after work hours, Thomas Harland picked the makings of beauty from junk piles. . . led them into sacred patterns, slowly, laboriously, inch by inch. Until, at last, it was done.

ONE WINDOW, then another. Then the finest achievement of all. A church in Virginia needed a window. The church was not of Thomas Harland's denomination but that made no difference. He offered to build a window for it.

"A window that would symbolize friendship and understanding between all faiths," he said. "And so I purposely took pieces of glass from churches of all creeds, and out of those pieces I built my window and saw it sanctified."

And I thought of the "broken bits" in our own lives.

But suppose, instead of being disgusted, we decided to make something of those broken bits. Suppose, instead of being ashamed or bitter, we fitted them into a new and nobler design of hope, pride and courage, love and understanding—a design that would bind us closer to all others who've suffered and failed. To build, instead of sulks and surrender.

Cooking 22 Make Cherry Desserts

By MARTHA LEE

When the mercury begins to soar, appetites become capricious. In the summertime, homemakers have to meet the problem of planning dinners with a nice balance between hot and cold dishes for the sake of health and appetite. Here are some desserts made with cherries that will tempt the folks on the hottest days.

The period between July 15 and 25 will mark the observance of National Cherry Week, so these desserts will be doing double duty—pleasing the family and celebrating the harvest of this popular and delicious fruit.

CHERRY FRUIT PUDDING

1 pkg. cherry-flavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups hot water
1/2 cup grapefruit juice
1/2 cup diced grapefruit sections, free from membrane
1/2 cup seeded fresh cherries, halved

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add grapefruit juice. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in grapefruit and cherries. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve with sauce made from sweetened fresh cherries. Makes 6 servings.

CHERRY ROLLS

2 cups pitted and drained red cherries, fresh or canned
1/2 cup cherry juice
1 cup sugar
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 tsp. double-acting baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
4 tbsp. butter or other shortening
2-3 cup milk
2 tsp. melted butter

Mix cherries, juice, and sugar, and let stand about 10 minutes; drain and reserve sweetened juice. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add milk all at once and stir carefully until all flour is dampened. Then stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough and follows spoon around bowl. Turn out immediately on floured board and knead 30 seconds; roll 1/4 inch thick. Cover with cherries. Roll as for jelly roll. Moisten edge and press against roll. Cut in 1 1/4 inch slices. Place in greased pan, cut-side down; brush with butter and pour 1/2 cup sweetened cherry juice over slices. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 30 minutes, basting at 10 minute intervals with remaining sweetened cherry juice. Serve hot with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

SWEET CHERRY CONSERVE

4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
Grated lemon rind
1/2 cup lemon juice
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
1/2 lb. chopped sweetened raisins
1 cup finely chopped nut meats
1 bottle fruit pectin
To prepare fruit, pit about 2 1/2 pounds fully ripe sweet cherries. Crush thoroughly or grind. Add 1/2 cup water, bring to a boil over, and simmer 15 minutes. (For stronger cherry flavor, add 1/2 teaspoon almond extract before pouring.) Grate rind and squeeze juice from 2 medium lemons. Measure sugar and prepared fruit, solidly packed, into large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Add lemon rind and juice, raisins, and nut meats, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 5 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot conserve at once. Makes about 12 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Sunbonnet for Beach

PRETTY QUIANT . . . a "covered wagon" sunbonnet topping a bathing suit that has nothing of the covered wagon motif about it . . . a pet beach ensemble of Ann Shirley's that you can duplicate yourself, if you're the least bit handy with needle and scissors . . . and almost as easily, even though you do handle them as though they were crowbar and hedge shears. You might use ordinary straw matting, obtainable in any five and ten, and inexpensive checked gingham. Her set is yellow and white checked linen. One square of straw makes the bag (cover one side with gingham, and leave it unlined) and an oblong piece can be shaped into a sunbonnet brim. Just sew your gingham on with neatly turned under edges, cut long strips for bows, sew them, turn them inside out and tie them nicely.—ANNICE BRINK.

CHECK UP ON MANNERS

To make slips in etiquette and never know it—so often that's the fate of the girl unused to dating. Even a leisurely soda at the drug store may be her Waterloo. Time ticks on, her beau grows uncomfortable—and she never realizes it's the girl's place to suggest going home. At parties, too, she embarrases her escort by waiting for him to speak of leaving. Soon she'll wonder why boys shy away from her! Yet, by checking on etiquette beforehand, any girl could carry off a date with the air of a princess. THE WOMEN who set out styles are not lacking in originality . . . Mrs. Frederick Cameron Church, who is often hailed as one of Boston's best-dressed ladies, was wading on the beach at Prides Crossing the other day in a nice white shark-skin bathing suit . . . topped by a man-tailored navy blue shirt (worn loose at the waistline according to the latest vogue) and, of all things, the luxurious string of pearls which usually enhances her most fetching and glamorous evening costumes . . .

ARRID

THAT sidehill cut around Wild Horse Mountain used to give me the willies. Just looking at those holes in the red slope, where hundreds of prospectors had busted their hearts . . . Well, it was just like the ghosts of poor devils' hopes hiding there.

You might think that's hokum, coming from a hack-hand, but may be you don't know that for sob stuff and suckers for hard luck stories, hack-hands take the cake. And sympathy! Say, I've seen those guys scratch bottom for their last penny to help some poor galoot in trouble, and once I saw "Screwball" Grugan bawl like a calf when a pup ran under his clunk.

Nina rides me plenty for being short from punting over for some gink's hospital expense, or his sick wife, or maybe only a wedding present, but when I promise not to do it anymore, she grins and says, "Honey, you're lying . . . but I like you for it." She knows I can't pass up a bo on the desert, with the wind ripping across the sage and greasewood, and when I pick them up I got to pay their fare and warm them with grave-yard stew at the Greek's.

I'm only telling you this so you'll know what kind of guys buy tombstones for people they never saw, and what a swell scout Nina is.

I wouldn't swap my run between Spenceville and Wendel for the pick of the country. There's something about this desert danging that gets under your skin. When you throw her into the pay-hole and slide along with the sage and greasewood making a wall on each side, and hear the doughnuts sucking the gravel or alkali . . . I can't describe it.

Then there's the people. In six years you get to know the drummers that make the territory, mining men, stockmen and folks in the little towns you run through. You know who's sick, who's got a good copper lease and how the lambing is.

I don't have much bad road. Most of the time I clip across the alkali flats between Hilton and Hawley's and cut off twenty miles from the old road around the mountain. It's as smooth as glass and I just squirt the old John D. and roll the road up behind me. But when it thaws in spring, or we have a heavy thunders-storm, my hoops just spin in the soup and I have to take the bill road.

Last August we had a humding-er of a storm that left the flat juicy and run me up the hill. I was drifting along easy when I run smack-dab on the woman. She was picking up wood beside the road, down from an old shack in a ravine. There's a punk prospect hole up that ravine that I'll bet I've seen a dozen guys take a shot at, since I've been on this run.

DRAGGED-OUT LOOKING

She didn't look more than 17 or 18, and she might have been pretty once, only now her face had that dragged-out look that comes from being on your uppers most of your life. She had on a faded old wrapper that showed she was going to have a baby pretty soon.

Right then Nina was fussing over a lot of baby clothes and things like that, so everytime I went into the house I had to wade through a bunch of stuff she was making, or her friends had sent.

It was all frilly and dainty with pink ribbon and doodads. I was taking a lot of ribbing at the garage, but I kind of liked it.

After that day, whenever I'd get home and see Nina all dainty and pink, with a nice, warm, happy smile, I couldn't help thinking of the girl up in that rattlesnaky ravine.

I didn't see her any more, but there was smoke coming from the shack whenever I passed, and I could hear some picking in the tunnel, so I knew she was still there. About the middle of September I got the flag where a path cuts down from the mountain into the low road. He was the lankiest guy I ever saw; all length and knots and bones. His hairy wrists dangled like universal joints six inches below the sleeves of his tight coat. If it wasn't for his grin I'd have thought he was on the loose from a corn-field.

When he fingered out the fare, I could see he wasn't any too well heeled. You could tell he was just busting to talk, from his grin and the way he folded up on the seat right back of me and leaned forward. We're not supposed to talk much to passengers . . . but what the heck? There wasn't a rock big enough to wilt a fender in 40 miles, and knowing he was from the ravine, I was curious.

I guess guys who are going to be dads are all the same. Anyway, in five minutes we were both bragging and lying like we'd known each other for years. The Indian Hill Smelter truck had picked up some ore from him and he'd made $27. He was going to Hilton to get things for his wife and the baby that was due in about a month. Mahala Mary would take care of his wife, did I know her?

It gave me the creeps to think of that filthy, drunken old squaw taking care of a woman, but I knew a lot of the homesteaders used her. I thought of Nina and the nice hospital room I'd arranged for her to have, even if it was two months before she'd need it.

"Why, Gabby," Nina said when I told her, "We must send them some things! We're not the Dionys . . . at least, I hope not!" All the time she was piling stuff into a bundle and chuckling.

When the guy got on at Hilton I handed him a bundle that would sag a burro, and I wish you could have seen his face. His Adam's apple pumped like a piston rolling seventy, and tears rolled down his cheeks.

We didn't get any feathers until the middle of December, then three or four warm days melted the wet snow, and made a bog out of the

It had been kind of hazy up the mountain for a month and I couldn't tell if there was any smoke coming from the shack or not. I kind of enjoyed the road change this time because I wanted to tell the lucky guy about the baby girl we'd put in November. Of course they'd had their baby by this time.

NO CHIMNEY SMOKE

A funny feeling hit me when I drifted around the turn and didn't see smoke wiggling over the edge of the ravine. It was getting cold; of course they'd have a fire, with a baby! But the front door was open and the cabin looked black inside and there wasn't any picking in the tunnel. They'd gone and I felt disappointed.

I showed into the big hole and was poked up speed around the turn when I saw something that made me spit the clunk, almost without knowing it. Just off the road, on a flat space, were two little bumps, one larger than the other. At the heads were two crosses somebody had made out of an old crate. In black grease one said "Mahala," the other "Hettie."

I forgot all about the four Cousin Jacks I had for passengers, as I got out with my cap off, and I didn't give a hoot if they saw me blubbering.

Nina cried like I knew she would, then she hit the budget for a pair of the prettiest bunches of flowers you ever saw, for me to put on the graves.

I hadn't got it out of my mouth at the garage before the hack-hands and grease-monkeys were chipping in to buy a couple of headstones. That's how those guys are.

Five of us took the stones one Sunday and set them up. Stubby Gates asked Dutch Gifford, without kidding as much as he tried to make it seem, if he didn't think he ought to say a prayer, and Dutch said, "Hell, no!" without it sounding as tough as he tried to make it sound.

But what gets me is that now I don't have that sunk feeling when I drift around the mountain. Those graves . . . well, they seem to be friendly and cheerful.

"It's in yourself, you big yep," Nina said when I told her. "Even the love and sympathy and usefulness you put into a couple of someone graves, can reflect back and make you feel different."

Well . . . the gal's always been tight up to now.

LOAN RATES REDUCED

New Household Finance rates cut payments on all amounts over $100

See new monthly payments in table below—No endorsers or guarantors needed to borrow—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, private service.

ONCE more Household Finance customers receive the benefit of a reduction in loan rates. Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month has long been below the lawful maximum. Now this rate is cut from 2 1/2% to 2% per month on that part of a loan in excess of $100.

More people are now making use of Household Finance service than ever before. This increased volume of business has reduced our operating costs. Our policy has always been to share such economies with our customers. So we are now cutting our rates on all loans of more than $100.

$6.41 a month repays $100 loan

We urge you to study the payments in the table below you get a loan anywhere. You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household Finance—just the ability to make small monthly payments. Suppose that you need $100 and can repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments as little as $6.41 a month will also repay a $100 loan. Your payments include all charges. These charges are substantially below the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law.

Pick your own payment plan

Find the loan you need in the first column of the table. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment you wish to make. Note that you may make very small payments if you prefer. Or you may pay larger installments and pay up sooner. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs.

One rate to everyone

Household charges only one rate—the same to everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

All you do to borrow

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to acquaint us with your problem. We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives—and you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get the money you need in a simple, private transaction.

Fair Treatment

Household shows every consideration to the borrower faced with sickness or unemployment while paying a loan. Last year Household foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud. Why don't you phone or visit us today? You will be under no obligation to borrow.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you pay, when you installments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time. We pay you charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a loan not yet repaid, in excess of $100. Orders from the Easy Chair Brigadier

Rolled on Order

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

IF YOU SHOULD ask any of the horsemen who have thoroughbreds ready to start in the $50,000 added Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs on Wednesday afternoon, who will win the turf classic, they will lift their eyebrows a bit, and then assume a mysterious air.

Continue to press a horseman for an answer he will say Challedon is the horse to beat.

"Challedon is the greatest horse you will see in 50 years," declared Moe Shapoff who trains Many Stings for the LeMar Stock Farm. "I wasn't silly enough to think Many Stings could beat Challedon in their recent match race. All I wished was for Many Stings to make a good showing. Many Stings used to be a $2000 plater and came along to where he won the $52,000 Widener Challenge Cup purse last winter.

"Challedon ran easily as he beat Many Stings. Jockey Berger had to keep driving with Many Stings and at the head of the stretch my Jockey used his whip a couple of times."

GEORGE WOOLF

Challedon will have George Woolf up in the Massachusetts Handicap. Woolf is one of the smartest jockeys in racing, and is certain to get every possible bit of running out of the big horse.

Other probable starters are Isolator, Pass Out, Masked General, Aethelwold, Big Pebble, Upstream, War Dog, The Finest, Hash and Eight Thirty.

Big Pebble Shows Brilliant Racing Form

BIG PEBBLE must be given serious consideration off his fine race in the Paul Revere Handicap on Saturday. Big Pebble finished second to Bosley, and would have won if he didn't have so much interference once he started to make his move at the head of the stretch.

Big Pebble will carry only 109 pounds against 130 pounds for Challedon. Eight Thirty will have 126 pounds, while Isolator, who will have plenty of backing to win, will be in with 122 pounds.

The Finest will only carry 103 pounds, Pass Out 106 pounds, Aethelwold 108 pounds, Upstream 108 pounds, War Dog 108 pounds and Masked General 115 pounds.

If Upstream cannot run any better than he did in the Paul Revere Handicap, he doesn't belong with the class horses that will compete in the Massachusetts Handicap.

Fighting Fox, last year's winner, will not be a starter, while Belay, War Minstrel, Star Boarder, Get Off and Many Stings are not expected to go postwards on Wednesday afternoon.

The big race will start at about 5:30 p. m., and with good weather conditions it is expected it will be witnessed by 45,000 persons.

Grand Circuit Meeting at Narragansett Park

GRAND CIRCUIT racing will open at Narragansett Park on Saturday, and will bring together the world's leading trotters and pacers. It is the first time the Grand Circuit has held a meeting at the Rhode Island track, and it is believed that the event will be well patronized.

Mort Mahony will be in charge of the pari-mutuel betting at Narragansett Park. He says there will be mutual wagering on each heat.

Greyhound, king of trotting horses, will compete at Narragansett Park a week from today. This writer saw Greyhound race at Agawam two years ago, and was impressed by the remarkable trotting ability of this horse.

Greyhound is every inch a champion, and should score victories in the two stakes in which he will compete at the Narragansett meeting.

Armstrong Choice to Defeat Jenkins

THE SPEEDY Henry Armstrong has been installed a betting choice to win over Lou Jenkins in their 12-round non-title bout at the Polo Grounds, New York, on Wednesday night. The speculative element is of the opinion Armstrong's amazing speed will enable him to outscore Jenkins.

Jenkins won the world's lightweight title by knocking out Lou Ambers. The slugging Texan will try to tip over Armstrong with one of his thunderous punches.

It is well for Armstrong that he will enter the ring without being obliged to make low weight. Armstrong is already below the required notch of 146 pounds.

Ambers was obliged to make 135 pounds for Jenkins and this fact contributed to his defeat.

Sox Need Di Mag In Drive to Wire

By HERB FINNEGAN

The American League pennant race may be decided this week, what with Detroit and Cleveland visiting the Yankee Stadium and Fenway Park, and it has become patent over the week-end that the Red Sox must keep Spark Plug Don DiMaggio in the lineup if they expect to continue in the four-way struggle.

The kid has class. No doubt about it.

We predicted, when we saw him open the throttle again at the Reds down in Tampa last spring, that he would lead the league in runs—scored. He's a streak on the bases and with Foxx, Williams, Cronin and the rest to push him around, it seemed a sound forecast.

The leg injury, suffered against those same Reds in Tampa, prevented that, however, because he idled on the bench the first half of the season, except for the first few games when he tried to hobble his way around right field.

But he's in the pink now. The 16,000 who saw him Saturday against the White Sox and the 17,000 who saw him Sunday against the Browns will attest to that.

And if the club can't win with fading veterans in the lineup, what better tonic than to insert a speed merchant like DiMag?

Why save him for the junior pism?

GETS FIRST HOMER

While the Sox were being blanked twice by the White Sox Saturday, DiMaggio and Bobby Doerr were the only Sox who gave the fans anything to rave about.

Dom threw a runner out at third, held two runs from scoring and got two hits in the first game. In the second he contributed a sparkling catch to a lost game.

On the Sabbath, as the Sox were winning two, 3-1, in 11 innings and 7-3 in seven innings, he was even better.

Not only did he make his first major league homer in the second game, but he made another of his patented Harry Hooper throws from right field which nailed Walter Judnich who was trying to go from first to third on a single. No wonder the crowd roared and cheered him to the echo. They love him.

And all this after he was awarded the Sporting News trophy for being the most valuable player in the Coast League.

In the first game his single started the rally in the eleventh inning, and he scored the winning run on Cramer's double.

REST MAY HELP FOXX

A cool, capable young citizen is Dom. The fans will insist upon his daily service whether it's Cramer or Williams who has to give.

He's sure of regular duty for a while, anyway, for when Lou Finney returns the Alabamian probably will be stationed at first base to replace Jimmy Foxx.

Foxx was injured in the first inning of the opening game when he was spiked by Berardino of the Browns in a play at first base. He spent the night at Brooks Hospital. X-rays proved nothing was broken but he has a strained tendon in the rear of the right knee which will

THE REAL DiMAG—Joe DiMaggio, who got three home runs in double-header with Browns Saturday, knocking in seven runs in the first game alone, continued his stellar play Sunday. Here he's sliding into second base, after doubling Red Rolfe home in second inning of game with White Sox. Yanks won, 4-0.

Bees Shoot Errickson Against Happy Cards

ST. LOUIS, July 15—Forced to rely on rookies which resulted in a double defeat on the Sabbath, Manager Casey Stengel planned to shoot the veteran Dick Errickson at the Cards today.

The former Gas House Gang was to counter with Lon Warneke, who lasted only three innings against the Giants Saturday.

By winning two on the Sabbath, the Cards crept into a tie with the Pirates for fifth place and pushed the Bees deeper into the seventh slot.

It was Johnny Mize who wrecked the Swarm in the opener. His home run and double accounted for the final three runs in the Cards' 8 to 7 triumph.

In the windup, Bill McGee bested Rookie Al Javery in a great hit battle, 3 to 1. It was Javery's first major league start.

Manager Casey Stengel started Al Piechota in the opening game, but the boy from Kansas City was sent scurrying for shelter in the seventh.

The Bees battered Clyde Shoun from the hill with a four run barrage in the third but when the Cards retaliated with the four run attack in the seventh they clinched the game.

The Bees battled right to the end, however, and had the tying run on second in the ninth when Max West, All-Star hero, fouled out when batting for Sterras.

Sibby Sisti sent the Bees away to a lead in the opening frame of

Zamparelli Lines Up Stars For 10-Miler

Andrew "Hawk" Zamparelli, who is handling the entries of the second annual St. Leonard's 10-mile road race to be run through the streets of Intown Boston Sunday afternoon, July 28, has been assured of the leading marathoners of today.

Already entered are such runners as Tarzan Brown, Leslie Pawson, Arlington's Johnny Kelley, Ted Carpenter, Joe Smith, the North Medford milkman, Pete Oxley, Frank Darrah, Clarence De Mar, and Lou Gregory, all former winners and consistent top-notchers.

The field will easily be much larger than the inaugural last year when Lou Gregory won the affair.

WEST ROXBURY NINE TACKLES ARTESANIS

With more than two full weeks of postponed games booked to be played at the close of the regular schedule, the tenth and last week of the second round in the Boston Park League campaigns will get under way tonight with all teams scheduled.

Bids to break ties in two places in the embattled East Division of the twi circuit will be made, Roslindale and Carter's Clothes playing Navy Yard and Casey clubs respectively, each attempting to gain sole possession of second place, and St. Alphonsus and Crosby Clubs will push for cellar-averting victories.

Bill Benson will have an opportunity to equalize last week's defeat of his West Roxbury club by Artesian when he visits the latter's park in Allston tonight with fast-baller Jimmy Maguire in readiness to deliver, while attorney Artesian, now in possession of a Grade A hurling corps staffed by Fella O'Donnell and Smith, will depend on Carney, Reardon and Ferriter to solve Maguire's delivery.

Pete Carrone, with his famous change of pace, will be exhibited on the Casey hill against St. Alphonsus at Dorchester in another standout clash, and Carter's Clothes second-place effort will take place at City Point where Hellenes appear at Lee Park against the marauding merchants. St. Catherine's will be at home at Barry to Hal Crosby club, and Saints' pilot McCarthy will name Joe Gooley for chucking chores. At Fallon Field the Navy Yard-Roslindale Town Club rivalry will be manifested when these two clubs collide in the final encounter carded.

Jones Match Nets Red Cross $1185 Here

The Country Club belongs to Francis Outmet. It must be so. It was there in 1913 that Francis defeated Vardon and Ray in the national open championship, a triumph which made the nation golf conscious, and it was there 27 years later the grand old veteran stole the show from Bobby Jones in the four-ball match played for the Red Cross before a Sabbath gathering of 3000.

The crowd came out to see Jones. No doubt of that. And a goodly crowd it was, too, one which kicked in $1185 to the Red Cross Relief fund. Outmet sank a 27-foot putt at the 18th hole which gave victory to himself and Jesse Guilford over the Alltanan and Fred Wright.

It is 10 years since Jones completed his "Grand Slam" of the American and British titles, and the long layoff showed in his game.

OUTMET HAS A TS
Heavier than he used to be in the old days, Jones was shaky at the start. Only one of his first six drives hit the fairways. When his third shot settled down in a trap at the 305-yard fourth, he picked up the ball and put it in his pocket.

Over the last 12 holes, however, he made 10 pars while failing to play out the 11th.

Jones and Wright were never in the lead, although they twice squared the match before Outmet brought it to its brilliant conclusion.

The victors had a better ball of 72, one over par for the Old Course, and the losers teamed for a 78.

Four birdies were made in the match and Outmet made three of them. Wright got the other when he was down in three at the 290-yard sixth hole.

ONE MORE MATCH

It was the third match in the schedule of four that Jones is playing for the Red Cross relief fund. The first was in Columbus, O., last month, the second in Lido, N. Y., Saturday. The fourth and last will be played in Philadelphia when the Alltanan comes north to watch the national amateur.

Jones' swing is still as rhythmic and fluid as it was 10 years ago, and he says he can play as well as ever when he does not have a gallery chasing him. He finds it difficult to concentrate now before a crowd. The match was refereed by Harold W. Pierce, president of the U. S. G. A. . . . Joe Conaty, B. U. hoskey captain, caddied for Jones.

Schooling Opens Tonight At Raynham

The new greyhound racing track at Raynham Park will get its first tests of speed this evening when the initial schoolings are held. The track will open officially July 23.

It is expected that the fleet hounds will set fast marks over this newest of tracks tonight because the quarter-mile oval is as fast as man can make it.

One of the many new features is the newly designed starting boxes. They are set at a slight angle, which will give each of the greyhounds a simultaneous view of the mechanical rabbit at the same split second.

There is every indication that the track will prove exceedingly popular. Raynham Park, located on Route 138, in rural setting is easily accessible from all points, over numbered highways and on routes absolutely free of congested spots.

Helen Bernhard, 19, Upsets Helen Jacobs

PHILADELPHIA, July 15 (AP)—Helen Bernhard, of New York, blonde fourth-ranking woman tennis player in the national, upset favored Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., in straight sets, 7-5, 8-6, to retain her middle states women's tennis championship.

The victory was Miss Bernhard's first over the second ranking U. S. woman player. The defeat was Miss Jacobs' first in three tournaments here this year.

Hub Track Games On

Patentees of the cinder paths as well as novices will be on hand at Franklin Field, Dorchester, tonight where the annual city of Boston track and field meet, under the direction of the New England A. A. A. U. and the Boston Park Department, will be held.

This meet, which takes place annually on the fourth of July as part of the annual Independence Day Celebration, had to be postponed on the holiday because of rain. The first event tonight is scheduled to get underway at 6:30 o'clock.

A large field is entered in both men's and women's classes including present and former college and high school stars.

Competition will be held in the dash, 440, 880, mile run, three mile run, one mile walk, running high jump for both women and men, running broad jump and 16-pound shot.

Frank Zelmetz, former Boston College captain and now color bearer for the B. A. A., will toss the mark in both the 160-yard dash and running broad jump. Even though he is forced to start from scratch, Frank is favored to take both events. Other scratchmen in the dash are Mel Vincent, also of the B. A. A., and L. J. Steward of University of New Hampshire.

Ted Carpenter of Melrose, winner of the recent Bunker Hill Day 10-mile road race, will attempt an iron man's stunt. He will be seeking top honors in the mile run and then the three-mile affair.

Don Fleet, another former Boston College performer, and now a B. A. A. representative, will be among the favorites in the 440-yard run.

Raise Millions To Buy Yanks

NEW YORK, July 15 (INS)—Smith Davis, senior partner of Davis & Thompson, Cleveland financial house, is raising $2,000,000 in Ohio cash as a down payment on the New York Yankees for Postmaster General James A. Farley, the Daily Mirror said today.

Davis is a former Wall Street operator who moved to Ohio because his principal client was former governor James Cox of that state, according to the Mirror. Cox is technically accurate in denying that he is backing Farley in the purchase of the baseball world champions and their far-flung subsidiaries.

Cox, through Davis, the Mirror continues, is raising the money but will not have a sharing interest in the Yankees. He and Farley are old friends and Cox's activity is entirely sentimental.

Podesta Advances To Third Round

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—Gerard (Jeff) Podesta, Montclair, N. J., the surprise winner of the Eastern Clay Court tennis championship the past two years, but who is only an outside choice this year, started defense of his title with a brace of victories.

The sixth-seeded Princeton University amateur defeated Harry Yangling, New York, 6-1, 6-1, and Bill Thompson, Brooklyn, 6-2, 6-4.

If Isolator doesn't seem outstanding enough at post time, Fitzsimmons may also enter his classy three-year-old Fenselon as a running mate for the older thoroughbred, realizing as an old poker player, the potency of aces back to back.

Isolator will be doing well if he beats Challeidon, the 1939 champion, and Eight Thirty and War Dog in the Massachusetts Handicap, but Sunny Jim thinks he can do it.

The Belair Stud handicap star is one of the few horses which defeated Seabiscuit two years ago.

SAYS:

"I sure needed that Sunday picnic. Look what they got ahead of me this week—two big shows—today and tomorrow—and then the greatest race of the decade's history. Wonderful! That will do the trick!—Eve Carlson meets the Babe, a racing treat everyone has been waiting for—and the final half-mile of the year, including a special Reverse Course Event. Better save Wednesday for Wonderland."

Pop doubles by Marion and J. Brown, together with a Terry Moore single and a stolen base, brought home two valuable runs for the Cards.

The Bees' youngster weakened in the eighth after a great exhibition from the second inning on, and the Cards chased their final run home on Koy's double and Orenco's single.

Stake Nominations Near Close at 'Rock'

The Cronin boys were only 3½ games behind the leaders entering today's game with the Browns, thanks to the A's double victory over the Tigers on the Sabbath, so they still have a glorious chance to get up there. They'll have to play better ball than they have been showing the past month, however, but with some new blood in the lineup they may be able to do it.

Stake Nominations Near Close at

One of their spearheads will be 23-year-old Dominic DiMaggio, most valuable player in the Pacific Coast League last year and probably the Most Valuable player in Boston this year if he gets a chance to play every day from here in.

Stakes will be run each Wednesday and Saturday, with the traditional Rockingham Park Handicap on closing day for an added purse of $5000 featuring the meeting, and Racing Secretary John F. Turner will arrive tomorrow to check over the nominations and issue the first condition book of the

The only new stake event listed is the Raceland Handicap, named in honor of John R. Macomber, the father of New England racing, whose Raceland estate is a shrine for all followers of the sport.

He, too, has consented to serve as honorary steward of the meeting, and with Mr. Macomber, Tom Thorp, "Bunny" Almy, Herman F. Conkling, and Jack Conway in the stand, the sport will be in excellent hands.

FRIEND THE STARTER

The veteran Charles B. Stickney of Nashua will once again represent the State of New Hampshire and it is interesting to note that four of the six stewards, four of them will be native New Englanders—

Macomber, Almy, Conway and Stickney. Executive manager Lou Smith is of the opinion that New Englanders, who have become excellent breeders and owners and trainers and jockeys, will also become excellent racing officials if given the opportunity, and he is providing that opportunity this year.

Jim Tabor spent his last afternoon as a bachelor by getting three hits in the first game and one in the second. . . . Cronin had scored twice and Doerr twice in the first game before DiMaggio and Cramer combined to put over the winning run in the 11th. . . . The second game was held in seven innings, with the home-curfew crowd the house gave up 11 hits in that time. . . . Grove started the first game but was lifted in the eighth inning. . . . The crowd was relieved him, was credited with the victory. Grove needs nine more victories to reach his goal of 20. . . . The crowd was glad to do so before season's close. He won only five during the first half. . . . Williams has made only one hit in his last four games. May not be a bad idea to let him sit out a couple of games. Stan Spence can hit that ball and might be the hanging around the benches too long.

Boston After Dark

—By GEORGE HOLLAND—

ing regulation . . . Ballplayers say the reason that Teddy Williams isn't hitting as many home runs as his 1939 record promised he might, is that opposing pitchers are feeding him slow balls . . . The kid is thriving on the slow-ball diet from the standpoint of base hits or he was until Jimmy Dykes arrived in town for Saturday's double header — even if his four-base knocks are fewer than was expected.

LOU WALTERS IS LAYING THE GHOST of a "short-season," less than twelve summer weeks, which has kept Boston night club owners away from the Cape Cod district in swarms . . . Under Mr. Walters, the former pavilion at Silver Beach is prospering hugely as the Latin Quarter . . . Jack Murray's new club 21, formerly the Egleston Inn, at Hyannis, is another bit born of 1940 . . . "Club 21" is getting a steady play from actors at Dennis and Osterville, which attracts the citizens in itself . . . It might be business if Murray advised the telegraph companies that he is doing business on the premises of the Egleston Inn . . . A Boston party, telegraphing "Club 21" Saturday, was asked to re-send the wire with more specific information about the address.

THE TRIBUTE Wonderland Park staged to the memory of the great greyhound breeder, Frank Jones, marks the beginning of a campaign to sentimentalize a sport which for mass popularity is rivalling the sport of kings (horses), this season.

ARMSTRONG, JENKINS TO DRAW 40,000 FANS

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—A Negro poet fights a former army mule skinner.

That's the prize ring's prize offering for the month—and there's no title in sight for either of the fighters!

Seldon has fistians plitted two such extremes as Henry Armstrong, the cultured colored man who is the welterweight king, and Lew Jenkins, the Texas thin man who rules the lightweight division.

HENRY FAVORED

But for all their apparent differences, they have one thing in common—the pound for pound ability to fight better than anybody else their size, and so it is pronounced that the 12-round Wednesday night meeting will lure some 40,000 fans to the Polo Grounds.

Armstrong, who once held the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight titles at one time, has an autobiography almost ready for the publishers, but the most interesting chapter may have to be written after the fight—if

Henry can still write by then.

Because of his greater experience and durability, he'll be favored to win, even though he hasn't set anyone aflame with his training camp showings.

It may take all the cleverness he has stored up in years of ring warfare to keep away from the thunderous punches of the Seltzer-water socker, for Jenkins jolts just like one of his army mules and is a fairly competent boxer.

JENKINS CAN HIT

But the experts think he'll have to land one of his high, hard ones fast, or the bobbing, weaving Armstrong will cut him down to size with a vicious body attack.

Henry is expected to enter the ring around 138 pounds, about five more than Jenkins will weigh.

Beachcomber Maestro's Hair Is Rapidly Improving

BOSTON, July 14 (JW)—John E. Warner, foremost hair and scalp specialist, checks on orchestra leader's hair.

Vincent Bragale, whose famous band is heard nightly at the Beachcomber, and over the air, consults and takes treatment from John E. Warner.

Mr. Bragale is insuring his future income by retaining his good head of hair, which is a very important part of his personal appearance. Thousands of men have kept their youthful appearance by saving and improving their hair through John E. Warner's individual treatment. Each week over 300 men are improving their hair by taking treatment in one of the largest and best equipped offices of this kind in the world. 83% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. There is no charge for an examination and consultation by John E. Warner. Examination and treatment always given in strictest privacy and no case is ever accepted for treatment unless beneficial results are certain. The Warner offices are conveniently located at 515 Washington Street, opp. R. H. White's, near the corner of West Street. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily. Saturdays 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
